Raising glass to Di a year on

Holiday of a lifetime turns to 'hole that can't be filled' for family

Andrew Potts

The UK-based family of Sea World Helicopters collision victim Diane Hughes have spoken for the first time of their devastating on the one-year anniversary of her death.

Mrs Hughes and her husband Ron were among four people to die in the January 2, 2023, tragedy.

The couple, married for 18-months, were just days into a long-delayed holiday, during which Mrs Hughes was to celebrate her 58th birthday.

Her children Sian Long and Lewis Ainsworth have spoken of their grief, saying their mother's death was "a loss we all feel is indescribable".

Diane and Ron Hughes died in the Sea World Helicopters crash.

"We have been finding it hard to come to terms with the passing of our mum as there is a hole in our lives that can never be filled," they said.

"She was truly loved by everyone who knew her and we will miss her forever.

"She was a beloved daughter, sister, grandmother, friend and most of all, our Mum and the loss we all feel is indescribable."

January 2 marked one year since the tragic collision of the two tourist trip helicopters over the Broadwater in front of thousands of onlookers enjoying a Gold Coast summer day.

The pair of Sea World Helicopter craft collided just before 2pm.

Mr and Mrs Hughes boarded their chopper alongside, Sydney's Vanessa Tadros, her son Nicky, Winnie de Silva, her son Leon and pilot Ash Jenkinson who was at the controls.

Just 20 seconds after takeoff, their helicopter hit another Sea World Helicopter, piloted by Michael James, which was coming in to land.

The main rotor of Mr Jenkinson's helicopter hit the front of the other vehicle's fuselage, shattering the canopy and showering Mr James' passengers and him with glass. The rotor sheared off in the collision, causing Mr Jenkinson's crippled helicopter to plummet to the ground.

Ms de Silva, her son Leon and Nicky Tadros survived the crash. His mother Vanessa, Mr Jenkinson and the Hughes were all killed. Mr James, against all odds, landed his Airbus Eurocopter, saving the lives of his passengers.

Mrs Hughes' children said their mother "lived for her family and with each big occasion that she is not here for, the absence of her presence feels greater and greater".

Ms Long said her mother and husband had "lived for adventures and truly did live life to the full".

"We still don't understand how they had time to work as they were always on holidays or weekends away," she said.

"If losing our mum and Ron has taught us anything it is to treat every day as if it's your last and soak up every moment, as nothing is guaranteed in this life.

"One year ago our lives changed forever and this tragic loss will weigh heavy on all of our hearts forever."

Ms Long said her family would "raise a glass" in honour of Mrs Hughes on Sunday, what would have been her 59th birthday.

CUP QUEEN TO HIT COAST FOR MAGIC WEEK

Ashleigh Jansen

The VIPs coming for the Gold Coast's Magic Millions horse sales and racing festival week just keeps growing.

The Melbourne Cup's first female winning-jockey Michelle Payne will be among big names on the Glitter Strip during the yearling auction festival punctuated by one of Australia's richest race days at the Gold Coast Turf Club.

She'll be joined during the festival starting this Sunday with polo by Royal Zara Tindall and husband Mike, England's former rugby captain, Queensland Origin coach Billy Slater, plus Argentine polo star Nacho Figueras and wife Delfina Blaquier.

Ms Payne, among a high-powered private annual Magic Millions 'Women with Horsepower' luncheon hosted by Star, said: "It is a privilege to be involved in Women with Horsepower and be a part of a group of accomplished women who are making waves in their own fields."

The winner of five Group One races and Australian Racing Hall of Fame inductee said she was "delighted" to join Gold "community champions" for the event: "If I can help inspire others, then I am very grateful."

The luncheon started in 2020 spotlights women in racing and female pioneers in business, arts and culture and sport. The Star Gold Coast CEO Jessica Mellor said Women with Horsepower was launched to provide a unique Magic Millions experience and celebrate women who transform communities.

"The calibre of this event has gone from strength to strength continuing to elevate the discussion on female role models and leadership.

"I'm delighted Michelle will be part of the conversation this year as someone who has defied stereotypes in racing but also built connections across so many different industry and community sectors," Ms Mellor said.

Magic Millions Raceday is January 13 with a record $14.5 million prizepool for 11 races.

Comic's GC double act

Australian comedian Vince Sorrenti is back on the Gold Coast for a double dose of the best medicine.

The comic originally from Punchbowl, New South Wales, is MCing the BMD Northcliffe Surf Life Saving Club's annual Sportsman lunch on Friday featuring a speaking line up of cycling queen Anna Meares, horse trainer Tony Gollan and jockey Ryan Maloney.

Sorrenti said he also "can't wait" to bring new show 'I'm Offended' to The Star Gold Coast on Saturday.

"We had a sell out in Sydney. We're really tapping into a nerve, there's a lot of people really sick of all the wokeism. Look at Ricky Gervais and Dave Chappelle – they are saying exactly what they want. Otherwise there's no point in satire, no point in comedy at all."

The sold-out 39th Northcliffe luncheon raises money for Surf Life Saving Queensland.

"(Surf Life Saving) is something people who visit the Gold Coast don't fully appreciate. These clubs don't run on fresh air – they have equipment, services, these clubs need to run at a profit for people to provide safety in the water. The fundraiser raises a s–tload. The day usually ends with Alfie Langer dancing on a table somewhere."

Toad find sparks alert

Melburnians are being urged to report suspected exotic pest sightings following the discovery of an Asian black-spined toad on Boxing Day.

Agriculture Victoria biosecurity manager Adam Kay said a resident noticed the toad during an afternoon walk along the Djerring Trail near Huntingdale train station.

"The resident collected the toad in a cup and took it home, then reported the discovery via our hotline as a suspected cane toad," Mr Kay said. "We have since confirmed the species as an Asian black-spined toad."

The toad was in poor condition and has since died and been appropriately disposed of.

It was the 18th Asian black-spined toad discovery reported to Agriculture Victoria since 1999.

One Nation tops Fadden campaign count

Andrew Potts

Less than $15,000 was donated to all candidates during last year's Federal Fadden by-election. Electoral returns published by the Australian Electoral Commission (AEC) this week show neither the winning candidate – the LNP's Cameron Caldwell (right) – or Labor's Letitia Del Fabro took any money from supporters.

Neither parties reported any electoral expenditure to the AEC for the by-election, which was held in July 2023 following the resignation of former LNP MP Stuart Robert.

Instead, donations flowed to a handful of minor party candidates, many of whom spent significantly more on their campaigns.

One Nation raised the most money, with three donations totalling $8300 against a campaign spend of $8851.

Marnie Laree Davis of the Indigenous Aboriginal Party of Australia received $4257 from a single donor which covered the exactly cost of her campaign.

Independent candidate Belinda Diana Jones received 56 donations, totalling $3969, however, her campaign cost $9596.

Australian Federation Party candidate James Grahame Tayler received $1000 while spending $44,165

Independent candidates Kevin Young and Stewart Gordon Brooker's expenditure topped $14,325 and $3453 respectively, while the Australian Democrats' Christopher Gerard Simpson spent $5000.

Epstein island's rebrand

Jeffrey Epstein's Caribbean islands, where he is accused of holding underage sex parties and other debauchery, are slated for a major rebranding.

The new owners of the late financier's playgrounds of perversion in the US Virgin Islands – known informally as "Pedophile Island" – are working to transform them into a glitzy resort.

Billionaire Stephen Deckoff paid $88m for Great St. James and Little St. James, with the smaller of the two hosting Epstein's former estate.

According to reports, the co-founder of Black Diamond Capital Management hopes to inaugurate the new attraction sometime next year.

Mr Deckoff reportedly will not raze Epstein's former residence. Instead, developers plan to "convert" it into a glittering hotel.

Vision reveals impact

Tate: 'Vital political leaders in Canberra, Brissy see extent of damage'

Jessica Paul and Amaani Siddeek

New aerial footage has revealed the extent of the destruction caused to Gold Coast homes ahead of Australian Defence Force (ADF) personnel joining the recovery effort.

The vision was captured on a chopper flight taken by Premier Steven Miles and Gold Coast Mayor Tom Tate across storm- and flood-ravaged suburbs – including Mount Tamborine and surrounding areas – on Tuesday afternoon.

Photographs show homes that appear to be almost completely destroyed from the air, while others have roofs missing or are strewn with trees and debris.

Mr Tate said the flight was standard practice after a disaster and revealed the destruction first-hand, showing some homes and infrastructure were "basically obliterated".

"The Gold Coast is a large city and the opportunity to show the Premier the most impacted areas in a short time was most helpful," he said.

"We are now at the stage where we need maximum federal and state support through the ADF, grants, and funding to help get the city and its residents back on their feet.

"It is vital that our political leaders in Canberra and Brisbane fully understand just what we have gone through and what the road to recovery looks like."

Fifty ADF personnel are due to hit the ground on the Gold Coast on Thursday to aid with the enormous clean-up effort.

Mr Tate said on Wednesday it was yet to be decided where the ADF troops would begin.

"This will be determined in consultation with all agencies when they arrive," he said.

"I will be announcing details around Operation Clean Up Gold Coast in the coming days so residents and the not-for-profit sector have some certainty around when they will be assisted."

It is understood several authorities will be involved in prioritising areas of need.

A cloudy but virtually rain-free Wednesday was good news for clean-up crews, with the Bureau of Meteorology meteorologist Helen Reid saying clear skies were expected for the rest of the week.

"The good news is that the large weather systems has moved further offshore," Ms Reid said

"We could see a little bit of rainfall and possibly some thunderstorms, which could bring a couple more millimetres."

The Bureau issued a final flood warning for the Nerang and Coomera Rivers at 9.30am Wednesday, saying river and creek levels had generally peaked and were easing.

Ms Reid said residents downstream of the Albert and Logan Rivers should remain cautious as excess water flowed out to sea.

A statement from Energex on Wednesday morning said power had been restored to more than 2600 homes in the 24 hours prior, with about 8400 still waiting to be reconnected.

New restoration estimates indicate homes in storm-battered Tamborine Mountain were expected to have power by Sunday at the latest.

Other heavily impacted suburbs including Wongawallan, Upper Coomera, and Guanaba should also regain power by the weekend.

Despair as residents left to pick up pieces

Northern Gold Coasters are not waiting for the army to arrive and recovery is in full swing across the devastated area on Wednesday afternoon.

Decimated by the Christmas evening storms and flooded in the new year's downpour Coomera scaffolder Bernie Hardiman's house was roofless and the floor was covered in water.

He could be found on Wednesday, with his young son BJ, 6, doing what he could inside, where floodwaters and storms had damaged most of his possessions beyond saving.

"I'm just cleaning out the inside the house. So what my mission today was was to clean up all the gunk and get it outside," Mr Hardiman said.

"To see my boy walk in on Boxing Day and see all his presents all over the place was heartbreaking."

Mr Hardiman and his son are staying in temporary accommodation but were doing it rough for a few nights.

"I've been staying in my car since Boxing Day and I don't mind but my son even had to spend a couple of nights in there and that's what I didn't like," Mr Hardiman said.

"I'm just very grateful that the lady from Queensland housing has organised the temporary accommodation."

Mr Hardiman said the house owner's maintenance worker thinks the house will be ready to move back into in a matter of months.

"The maintenance man said if it's all smooth running, he's given us six to eight weeks … I think he's dreaming," Mr Hardiman said.

"I just don't know what to do or where to go."

Australian Defence Force crew are expected today.

Wongawallan resident Lynnette Lynch. Picture: Adam Head

Residents trickle back into suburb

Taylah Fellows

Residents of Gold Coast suburb Wongawallan are returning to properties obliterated by severe storms and flooding.

The week-long double whammy disaster – a Christmas night cyclonic storm and New Year's Day flash floods – wreaked havoc, with locals navigating through fallen trees and debris to see what is left of homes.

Lynnette Lynch returned to what she once called her "paradise lost", a gorgeous dual property along the Tamborine Creek.

This week it is barely recognisable. Floods washed away her driveway, leaving behind gaping concrete holes.

Torrents destroyed shed and garage foundations, and large rocks once covering the creek bed collected on her lawn.

The water was so strong a car, tractor, fence panels and contents from inside steel sheds were strewn across the property.

Inside, a thick sludge covered floors of her once award-winning home, a black line across the walls showing where knee-high floodwaters seeped in.

Ms Lynch was home when the Christmas Day storms hit, but she said coming home to her flood-ridden property, "I've gotten to stage where I'm a bit numb – emotionally I'm drained, physically I'm exhausted, and I'm just sad.

"There's so much more damage now than just the trees down from the storm. The water has affected everything, every crevice."

Ms Lynch bunkered in her home during the storms, which sounded like a "row of freight trains," before escaping with her four orphaned kittens and a Great Dane.

"Our neighbours said the water was running so fast they couldn't even cross the road to check on us," she said.

"Neighbours have lived here for 50-odd years and they'd never seen anything like this."

Asked where she would go from here, she said, "Honestly, I don't know."

Like many in Upper Coomera and Wongawallan, she will have to wait for debris to be cleared for a damage assessment to be done.

"The job was massive when it was just the trees, but now I have no idea. After the storm, the fence was still here so the water has just taken absolutely everything."

Mt Tambo at breaking point awaiting help

Charlton Hart

Residents in Mount Tamborine are at breaking point and say they've been left to fend for themselves in the wake of the devastating cyclonic Christmas storm.

Members of the community say they have been without power for eight days and fear it will be months before the electricity grid will be repaired.

Energex has brought in a generator to power essential services at the local shopping village but it's nowhere near enough, according to FoodWorks supermarket owner Brenda Ashley.

"We can't get delivery trucks up here to restock the bread and milk or even bottled water because it's too dangerous for them with the fallen power lines. So we're driving stuff in for the community from town," Mrs Ashley said.

"We started trying to fill the fridges the other day and the Energex generator failed and was out for 12 hours. We can't buy stock if we lose power again. We've already lost $40,000."

Mrs Ashley runs the family business with her husband Michael, the pair haven't had a day off since the storm ripped through their small town. They claim the situation is dire with septic tanks overflowing and spilling raw sewage in homes and neighbouring properties.

Elderly residents have been dropped off at the supermarket by police to get water and food after being found trapped in their storm-damaged homes.

They'd been there for several days.

"Everyone is just getting down now. This is Third World conditions. We're living day-by-day and just having to try and survive," Mrs Ashley said.

"There's just no help, that's what everyone saying, they need help."

Residents have told the Bulletin many of the local roads have only been reopened because residents have removed debris.

SES volunteers have been out in the community but the sheer size and scale of the disaster in front of them is enormous. Local butcher Stuart Kenny and wife Chelsea have been putting on daily barbecues for free to feed the growing number of elderly and vulnerable who have no electricity to cook and can't get food.

"They're all pretty depressed. We've seen it's just boosted everyone's morale and that's why we've kept doing it," Mr Kenny said.

"A lot of people have been isolated and alone for days and this is just getting them out and they sit here have food, have a chat and tell stories. Just doing this is what's getting us through."

There is some glimmer of hope, after an army of Energex crews arrived at Eagle Heights on Wednesday to start the mammoth effort to rebuild the power grid. Army personal have also been committed to help with the clean-up effort, with 50 troops to hit the ground by the end of the week. Although residents don't believe they're enough, they are thankful for the extra help.

Wildlife rescue mission a horror show of death and devastation

Tahlia Leathart

Mermaid Waters resident Lee Sievers said he felt lucky to be living on the central Gold Coast after the devastation he witnessed during a wildlife rescue mission to Tamborine Mountain on Boxing Day.

"(My daughter and I) went up on Boxing Day to possibly assist with transport of any remaining injured corellas from the Christmas Day storms," Mr Sievers said. "The area where the corellas were was quite confronting, with massive trees down and many properties severely damaged.

"Some residents were on generator power, many were trying to secure tarps to (cover roof damage)."

Mr Sievers said the path of the storm was obvious from the damage to homes and trees.

"The drive back home was even more confronting as we were directed back to the Coast via Tamborine Village, which is what you can see in my clips," he said.

"It was devastating to see and the damage and destruction is something we have never seen – you could almost think you were on a movie set it was so unbelievable."

VIDEO

SCAN TO WATCH

Mr Sievers' daughter, Ebony, who is a wildlife vet nurse with the RSPCA, said many corellas were injured and RSPCA volunteers had been working into the early morning to save them.

"We went (to Tamborine Mountain) in the afternoon not knowing the full extent of what we were walking into as no one had phone reception," Miss Sievers said.

"The extent of the damage with the corellas was devastating and far worse than I imagined.

"I've never seen destruction like it and the mortality rate of all the wildlife was so severe.

"The corellas alone were in the hundreds."

Mr Sievers said that on the drive back he was surprised he heard nothing about the devastation in Tamborine on the radio.

"We couldn't believe that we weren't hearing anything about Tamborine or the surrounding areas, the news was very much focused on the Coast suburbs," he said.

The secret to sticking to New Year resolutions

As we step into another year, many of us would have spent the past few days reflecting on our journeys over the past 12 months and contemplating the road ahead.

As such, New Year resolutions often become the focus of our aspirations for the future – no doubt many readers made plenty of them as the rain came down in bucketloads on Sunday night – but the question looms large: Do New Year resolutions really work?

The allure of New Year resolutions often leads us to envision a complete life transformation, including the old staples of shedding weight, increasing our fitness, and saving more.

We vow to become better parents, partners, and friends, explore new destinations, start new hobbies, meditate, and start a gratitude journal, among other noble pursuits.

Yet research reveals a crucial insight into the nature of resolutions: the grander the goal, the less likely we are to commit to it.

The sheer magnitude of our ambitions can leave us feeling overwhelmed.

We also know that juggling too many resolutions not only makes achieving them more challenging but also significantly compromises our ability to maintain them, especially when compared to setting more modest targets.

Nouna Chugg set her sights on running a marathon and celebrated at the finish line of the Gold Coast Marathon with her daughters Lilou, Indiana and Emma. Picture: Glenn Campbell

And while we might be gamely sticking to a few of them a week later, the sad news is up to 92 per cent of New Year's resolutions fizzle out before the end of February.

So, to increase your chances of being among the eight per cent who successfully achieve their New Year goals, consider these three strategies:

One: Align your goals with your current routine, set goals that align with our current lifestyle and daily routines, pick goals that you can piggyback onto what you already do in your day.

For example, if you want to eat more fruit, plan to eat a piece of fruit with your daily breakfast.

Or if you want to listen to more audiobooks, make your daily commute the time that you do that rather than listening to the radio.

Two: Focus on rituals, not results.

Shift your focus from the result to the actions that will lead you toward a healthier, fitter, and happier you.

Instead of declaring, "I want to run 5km," opt for "I will commit to running three days a week consistently". By consistently running three days a week, you will eventually conquer that 5km milestone.

Three: The power of three.

Research indicates that our brains can effectively manage up to three changes at once.

Attempting more than three simultaneous changes often leads to feelings of being overwhelmed, paving the way for procrastination and eventual abandonment of your resolutions. In the coming year, challenge yourself to embrace just three manageable habit changes that you can genuinely enjoy and sustain. You'll be amazed at how much you can accomplish with this approach because the magic of January lies not in instant motivation, but in the commitment and strategies we employ throughout the year.

Dr Gina Cleo teaches in Bond University's Faculty of Health Sciences and Medicine and has research interests in habit and behaviour change. Her new book The Habit Revolution came out this week at amazon.com.au

Albo to skip cash handouts

Jessica Wang

While cost-of-living support remains the government's No.1 priority, Anthony Albanese says Australians should not expect cash handouts and sweeteners to relieve the pressure on households.

The Prime Minister said he had asked the Treasury and Department of Finance to devise ideas that could be announced in the May federal budget; however, cash splashes and spending would be curtailed to avoid inflation.

"We asked them to give consideration to what are the measures that can take pressure off families on cost of living without putting pressure on inflation. That's the key issue," he said.

"If you were just to distribute additional cash to people, you potentially make inflation worse and therefore don't help to solve the problem."

As an example, he used the government's Energy Price Relief Plan, which was developed with state and territory governments to introduce price limits on gas and coal.

A 12-month emergency cap on gas prices has been set at $12 per gigajoule for east-coast producers.

"Instead of giving cheques to people, it reduces their bills substantially and we worked that through with Treasury and finance and it made a substantial difference in a reduction in wholesale prices," Mr Albanese said.

In an effort to soften inflation to a target range between 2 to 3 per cent, the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) has implemented 13 rate rises since May 2022, with the 4.35 per cent cash rate denting household budgets. The latest consumer price index figures from September revealed year-on-year household inflation had reduced to 5.4 per cent after reaching a high of 7.8 per cent in December 2022.

Mr Albanese conceded Australians were still under the pressure caused by international events such as pandemic-related supply chain issues and the "illegal Russian invasion of Ukraine".

New jet skis for lifesavers

Volunteer lifesavers and lifeguards are reminding people to take care on Australian waterways and swim at patrolled locations, with more than 646 rescues conducted in NSW alone since Christmas Eve.

Since the start of the patrol season in September, Surf Life Saving NSW volunteers have conducted 1360 rescues, with almost half (646) of those since December 24, 2023, during the busy holiday period.

To support lifesavers, 14 new jet skis have been deployed to NSW beaches.

Accounting for about 13 per cent of rescues conducted by SLSNSW volunteers last year, jet skis play a key role in keeping people safe.

Tiny Aussie fossil find

Microscopic fossils found in the NT contain the oldest photosynthetic structures ever discovered, shedding light on the origins of photosynthesis.

Belgian researchers found thylakoids, which are also found inside plant cells and some modern cyanobacteria, in the 1.75 billion-year-old fossils called Navifusa majensis.

The discovery of thylakoids in a specimen of this age suggests photosynthesis – the process used by plants and cyanobacteria to convert water and carbon dioxide into glucose and oxygen using sunlight – may have evolved before 1.75 billion years ago.

Huge seals are fussy eaters

As one of the top predators roaming Antarctica, the sizeable southern elephant seal has its fair selection of the menu.

But it turns out they don't just want to eat anything and everything.

According to new research led by UNSW Sydney, male southern elephant seals have their favourite foods, and they like to stick with them. In other words, they're fussy eaters.

"They could have the pick of the buffet and yet each male southern elephant seal eats a lot of the same food, which is just a fraction of what's on offer," says lead author Andrea Cormack.

"So, they are extremely picky eaters ..."

Elena Rybakina.

Rising Aussie tennis star Olivia Gadecki has won the battle of the Gold Coasters at the Brisbane International, setting up an overnight showdown with Wimbledon champion Elena Rybakina.

The pair were due to face off in the second round as the Bulletin went to press.

Gadecki, 21, and ranked just over 10 spots behind fellow Gold Coaster and first-round opponent, the 115th-ranked Kim Birrell, took the match 4-6 6-0 6-4 after a two-hour battle.

Birrell, 25, won a nip-and-tuck first set 6-4 as the steadier of the two, before Gadecki won the next nine games straight and threatened to run away with it. But never-say-die Birrell bounced back to 3-3, setting up a tense finish with Gadecki prevailing.

The pair are both guaranteed first round starts at the Australian Open in Mebourne in a fortnight and are also considering teaming up for doubles in Hobart.

KUBLER VERSUS NADAL PREVIEW P52

Famed DJ pair's miracle bubba'

Fishers' natural surprise

Georgia Clelland

Superstar Gold Coaster DJ Paul Fisher and wife and podcast host Chloe (right), have revealed they were about to enlist a surrogate when their 'miracle baby' naturally emerged after a hellish fertility journey.

The couple, after eight demanding rounds of IVF and heartache of four miscarriages, opened up in heartfelt revelations on Chloe's podcast "Darling, Shine!", which she co-hosts with friend Ellidy Pullin, the widow of snowboarder champion Alex 'Chumpy' Pullin.

Chloe called the natural conception "a deadset miracle" after "1000s of needles, eight rounds of IVF and multiple surgeries".

"The baby was not IVF; it was a natural conception, believe it or not. I'm still actually shook."

The Fishers were in the final stages of planning for a surrogate, having already chosen one and prepared to sign the necessary legal documents when discovering Chloe was pregnant.

"I was meeting the surrogate with Ellidy that week – we had signed everything off," Chloe said. "This was in October and at the time and we were still deciding when we wanted to do the transfer, whether we wanted to do it before the end of the year."

The expecting parents found they'd conceived naturally after their rainy honeymoon in the Maldives in early October. With rain pouring down, leaving them with little to do, Fisher jokingly said "it was just raining every day, so Fish and Coco went to town".

Chloe shared on the podcast: "For the last three and a half years, we've pretty much continuously tried. Every month I kind of had hope, but then I was just like it's never going to happen. I had such a low egg count. It meant I never really ovulated."

Their journey and eventual success was announced to followers on Instagram on Christmas Day, alongside a photo featuring a glowing Chloe showing off her baby bump with Paul's beaming smile and ultrasound baby picture.

It attracted 14,000 comments, touching many with its candidness and heartfelt message.

"The greatest gift of all! I've waited my whole life for you," the caption read. "The most wanted and loved baby Fisher will be joining the tour in 2024, we are still pinching ourselves we've finally been chosen to become parents ... WE DID IT @followthefishtv I love you so so much!"

Chloe, sharing her joy, did not forget the struggles of those who are still on their fertility journey.

"Although this post is the single most happiest moment in my life, I know how incredibly hard announcements like these are for those struggling with infertility. I know this pain and suffering all too well," the caption read.

"I feel you all, I see you all and completely understand the disappointment & sadness you are all feeling ... I pray you hold your miracle in your arms soon. My heart is with you."

The couple reflected on lifestyle changes, including giving up alcohol and reducing stress associated with IVF, saying it might have played a role in their unexpected natural conception.

"We didn't talk about it, it didn't stress us out. I think stress is a key factor here," Fisher said.

Chloe is now 15 weeks pregnant.

23 OF 2023'S HOTTEST HOSPO OPENINGS

MI MALTEADA TRAE A TODOS LOS CHICOS
EL RANCHERO
Lenny
PIZZERIA & BAR

From $3 million seafood showpieces to 'Australia's best beach bar', it's been a bumper year for Gold Coast venues.

Broadbeach got its Happy Ending and so did the owners of displaced coffee legend Nook Espresso in a lively 12 months for our city's restaurants, bars and cafes.

We revisit 23 of 2023's culinary highlights.

1. TANK BAR & DINING

1166 Gold Coast Hwy, Palm Beach

Opened: January

Kicking off a packed year of hospo happenings, bar king Scott Imlach made a move south with some bold claims for his latest craft-beer haunt.

"Tank is there to create the atmosphere that has been lacking in Palm Beach," he said.

"It is missing the midafternoon to early evening trade that we are hoping to attract."

Billed as the "little brother" to Nobbys institution Bine Bar and Dining, Tank boasts eight rotating taps showcasing craft brews, wine, beer, cocktails and a "modest yet delicious menu".

2. EL RANCHERO

6/36 Central Drive, Burleigh Heads

Opened: March

This foodie fixture for Mo's Desert Clubhouse was inspired by hacienda-style bars in Mexico City.

With the music industry still hurting after Covid-19, co-owner Kim Ferguson said the gig and event space needed to add another string to its bow.

"We have given people the opportunity to come to Mo's not just for a show but also to hang out and have some drinks and food," she said.

With food by Fix on 66, El Ranchero specialises in margaritas and a range of south-western Californian dishes, including grazing boards and tacos.

3. LENNY PIZZERIA & BAR

Shop 5 58 Railway St, Mudgeeraba

Opened: March

In March, the team who started Burleigh buzz spot Justin Lane went after a slice of the action in Mudgeeraba.

Owners Robert Morwood and Oliver Botha said the suburb's "kick arse small town vibes" were exactly what they'd had in mind for Lenny Pizzeria & Bar.

"What we are doing in Mudgeeraba reminds me a lot of what we did originally in Burleigh," Mr Morwood said.

"It's a beautiful old building full of character that has huge potential in the heart of town, with a massive alfresco dining space overlooking the village green."

The pizza crew ace their base using a 72-hour slow-fermented dough cooked at 400 degrees.

4. ISLA CANTINA

Capri on Via Roma, Isle of Capri

Opened: April

Mulpha Hospitality Group (Edgewater, Ioesco Cucina, Cove Tavern) expanded their restaurant resume with the opening of a waterfront Mexican at Capri on Via Roma.

Isla Cantina manager Pablo Uribe said they envisioned "the kind of place you arrive for a drink and stay all day".

"Isle of Capri is just a stunning setting," he said.

"You get this energy at night when the lights of the city are glistening and you're sipping on Isla Cantina cocktails."

5. HAPPY ENDINGS BAR

2707 Gold Coast Hwy, Broadbeach

Opened: May

Fig and Frankies' Bella and Euan Lovell conceived Happy Endings Bar to encourage a late-night food-and-drink culture similar to Sydney and Melbourne.

The name was inspired by the space's former occupant – a massage parlour.

"It was a running joke between all of us and Happy Endings was born," Ms Lovell said.

"It's tucked away in an unsuspecting area and kind of sucks you up into its own little world."

Hot tip: Try the karaage chicken with secret dipping sauce.

6. CRISPY ITALIAN

4/1840 Gold Coast Highway, Burleigh

Opened: May

Billed as "the first Italian concept bar in Burleigh Heads", Crispy opened on May 21.

Owners Riccardo Proserpio and Matteo Tricarico said they believed business was going "really good" because there was no other bar like it on the Gold Coast.

"Whatever you find on our menu you will find it on a classic bar in Italy," Mr Proserpio said.

"(It's) a place where people can come enjoy a drink or a slice of pizza and have a nice, comfortable time."

7. MODO MIO

Pacific Fair Shopping Centre, Broadbeach Waters

Opened: June

After selling Ioesco at Sanctuary Cove, restaurateur Max Alfieri resurfaced mid-year with an Italian proposition for the Gold Coast's biggest shopping centre.

Mr Alfieri said he'd spared no expense creating an elegant dining experience at Modo Mio.

"We've taken a unique approach to Italian cuisine by putting our own modern twist on traditional dishes," he said.

"Pacific Fair Shopping Centre is already one of the most prominent and renowned international shopping and dining destinations in Australia. We are committed to taking it to the next level."

8. THE HOLLIDAY COFFEE

Corner of Wave St and GC Hwy, Nobby Beach

Opened: June

The plight of displaced Burleigh coffee favourite Nook captured the attention of the Gold Coast and led to a new project for one of its owners.

Marcus Wilkins and partner Olivia Ayres opened The Holliday Coffee in Nobby Beach mid-year and said the response from locals had been "unreal".

The Holliday Coffee offers a range of jaffles, including spaghetti and cheese or Vegemite and cheese, croissants, sourdough crumpets with macadamia honeycomb butter, cold-pressed juices, iced drinks and, of course, coffee.

9. HIDDEN SOCIAL

14/6 Energy Circuit, Robina

Opened: July

One of the Gold Coast's favourite food trucks, Ka Bao, found a permanent place to park.

While you can still catch the bao specialist at Miami Marketta and other events, Hidden Social is owner Lisa Hau's first cafe foray.

Ms Hau was raised and inspired by her grandparents, so you'll find a menu full of flavours that "take you back to when your nana used to bake ... just good-quality food that's locally sourced".

10. SOUTHPORT PAVILION

2 Barney St, Southport

Opened: July

Burleigh you get a Pav, Surfers you get a Pav ... and Southport you get a Pav!

Back in July, Southport Pavilion manager Mitch Lister told the Gold Coast Bulletin the city's CBD was in sore need of "something different".

Fronting the Nerang River in the venue formally known as De Vito's, the Gold Coast's newest Pav debuted a bar and pub-style dining.

"It's about the views, the cocktails and the sunsets rather than trying to do fine dining on the waterfront, which already exists nearby," Mr Lister said

"People of the Gold Coast can expect some of the best views in the city, some of the best cocktails coming out of our bar and classic Aussie pub food."

11. TAYTA NIKKEI

2243 Gold Coast Hwy, Nobby Beach

Opened: August

Kaitlin Wood and Adriano Antonini's Peruvian-Japanese fusion fare fast found fans at Nobby Beach.

Ms Wood said they were the only Gold Coast venue to offer the unique cuisine, with menu favourites including tuna tiradito, ceviche, slow-cooked octopus and slow-cooked pork ribs.

"We are glad to see people enjoying the Nikkei side of the menu and not just coming in and ordering things they are comfortable with," she said.

"Adriano has been in hospitality for 15 years and has worked all around the world in some incredible restaurants and this has been his dream since he worked at a Nikkei restaurant in London."

12. KOST

3 Oracle Blvd, Broadbeach

Opened: August

Swallowing three tenancies on Oracle Boulevard, Kost bar and grill become one of the city's few charcoal wood-fire grill restaurants when it launched in August.

Owner Dave Galvin spent years planning the 180-seater, which showcases dishes produced on the first two-metre Mibrasa charcoal grill and oven in Australia

"I have always been a huge fan of charcoal and live fuel cooking and dining in a beautifully designed venue," he said.

13. TARTE BEACH HOUSE

2-4 Thrower Drive, Currumbin

Opened: August

Anchored on the Currumbin Creek bank, it looks like the kind of location that couldn't fail.

Yet – hamstrung by behind-the-scenes landlord drama – a succession of operators struggled to stay afloat on the prime hospo site at 2-4 Thrower Drive, Currumbin.

It took the owner of cult Burleigh cafe Tarte Chloe Watts to turn the tide.

In reality it was more of a tsunami, with two-in-one venue Tarte Beach House drawing droves of diners from day one.

The venue – divided into a licensed counter-service restaurant and a more casual takeaway cafe with picnic tables – has a split-level setup so everyone can enjoy blue-water views with their lobster rolls.

14. CURRUMBIN VALLEY BREWING

27 Traders Way, Currumbin Waters

Opened: September

Currumbin Valley Brewing co-owners Luke Ronalds and Peter Wheldon opened their first taproom on September 15 after seven years of trading through local venues.

The pair built their first brewery on Mr Wheldon's 18-acre farm in Currumbin Valley in 2016 and had spent the past three years planning a new home where drinkers could drop in.

"We were really lucky to have some supportive locals who found us the new position and it is awesome," he said.

Imaginative brews, including Bingo Red Rye IPA, Muddy Pastry Stout, Watermelon and Raspberry Sour and Valley Lager, are poured alongside bar snacks and burgers.

15. LITTLE TRUFFLE DINING ROOM & BAR

2444 Gold Coast Hwy, Mermaid Beach

Reopened: October

This Mermaid fine-dining faithful relaunched after closing its doors for an 11-month, $1 million renovation.

Owners Daniel and Ruggie Ridgeway said the transformation, scheduled to coincide with light rail stage 3 construction, included a complete change of layout, fixtures, bar, amenities and kitchen.

"We literally ripped everything out and started from scratch," he said.

"Little Truffle 2.0 is a classy, luxe venue which features a deep navy colour scheme with brushed brass finishings, dramatic velvet curtains, and dark timber floors."

Regular diners were relieved to discover the favourites – Moreton Bay bug and prawn tortellini, vanilla pannacotta, and raspberry souffle – were still on the menu.

16. SIX-TRICKS DISTILLING CO

3 Brightlands Court, Mermaid Beach

Opened: November

Cocktail connoisseurs can visit a $2m distillery and tasting room at Mermaid Beach.

Owners Chris Macklin and Teagan Peake were inspired to bring some spirit to the suburbs when Mr Macklin attended a whisky masterclass almost a decade ago.

"That night he ordered a distilling kit and the passion for this craft was born," Ms Peake said.

With room for up to 100 sippers and suppers, Six-Tricks boasts an indoor bar, a sunset deck and a private cask hall.

Order an antipasto board to go with the venue's signature mojitos or a milk-clarified banana pina colada.

"Our location together with our spacious outdoor deck boasts the perfect spot to watch the sunset over the Broadbeach skyline," Ms Peake said.

17. KIRRA BEACH HOTEL

Cnr Miles St and Marine Pde, Kirra

Opened: November

After a three-year closure, the doors to the southern Gold Coast's most legendary watering hole swung open in November.

While it sports a flash fit-out, the venue still spruiks the no-fuss charm that has served locals since 1956.

Publican Greg 'Hodgy' Hodge said patrons can walk straight to the pub from a swim at the beach.

"We will always keep a tub of thongs behind the bar for you, if you haven't got shoes," he said.

"It's a second home, a place where you can relax and be on a first-name basis with our staff, a place where you can pop in after a surf and grab a bite to eat, and perch up with a beer in hand and watch the waves and magic of Kirra roll in."

18. BUOY

The Oxley, 17 Lavarack Road, Nobby Beach

Opened: December

Seadog cafe owner Brodie Green was the first high-profile recruit for new Nobby Beach food hub The Oxley.

The most ambitious project yet for the Burleigh barista, Buoy set out to support southern Gold Coast farmers and producers.

"I haven't seen anything on this level before on the Gold Coast and I knew we wanted to be involved," he said.

"The inspiration behind the brand is bringing back more farm to plate on the Gold Coast breakfast scene.

"I believe Instagram has made breakfasts too complicated. We're dialling it back to basics and we're focusing more on slinging the best coffees and fostering a sense of community."

19. BLOWFISH OCEAN GRILL + BAR

2 Oracle Bvd, Broadbeach

Opened: December

The 2023 award for best extreme makeover goes to Moo Moo owners Steven and Autumn Adams.

Fourteen weeks after being handed the keys to the old Bavarian Restaurant site, the seasoned restaurateurs unveiled $3 million seafood showpiece Blowfish Ocean Grill + Bar.

"I think diners will agree that the fit-out is next level and the contrast between the two levels (different depths of the ocean) provides two completely different dining experiences," Mr Adams said.

Blowfish is also one of the year's most extravagant entries, boasting a swanky private dining room, wine list with more than 320 premium hand-picked wines, caviar and champagne flights, and seafood towers.

20. PANCAKE DINER BURLEIGH

16/221 Christine Ave, Burleigh Waters

Opened: December

The owner of Pancakes in Paradise expanded his Gold Coast restaurant empire, opening a $1 million new venue.

After more than 35 years in the business, Glen Day was confident Burleigh would be just the spot for Pancake Diner, a retro roadside pit-stop serving old-fashioned milkshakes, burgers, hotdogs, pancakes, crepes, waffles, ribs, steak and all-day breakfasts.

"We also have our popular all-you-can-eat pancakes for $11.99 per person with whipped butter and maple syrup," Mr Day said.

Flashback features include red booths and music played through authentic drive-in movie theatre speakers.

21. LAGOON BEACH CLUB

InterContinental Sanctuary Cove Resort, Sanctuary Cove

Opened: December

New life was injected into InterContinental Sanctuary Cove Resort's lagoon pool with the addition of a $2.5m beach club.

Influenced by European summers, general manager Matt Rippin said the venue satisfied a "gap in the market" on the northern Gold Coast.

"It puts Sanctuary Cove on the map in a bigger way than ever before," he said.

"We anticipate seafood will be a huge drawcard for guests, particularly the fresh Mooloolaba prawn buckets, prawn rolls and yellowfin tuna ceviche."

22. BILLY CHOW

76 Musgrave Street, Kirra

Opened: December

Ally Chow owners Trent and Leisha Scarr embarked on a southern seachange with a sister venue for their Nobby Beach restaurant.

Kirra's Billy Chow showcases plenty of menu favourites alongside coconut chilli margs and cherry blossom sours

"The most popular items on opening night were our signature wagyu katsu handmade bao bun with parmesan custard and house barbecue sauce, and our ocean trout handmade crumpets with XO butter," Mr Scarr said.

23. KIRRA BEACH HOUSE

Marine Parade, Kirra

Opened: December

Saving the best for last, prolific restaurateur Dave Galvin dropped a pre-Christmas cracker.

Sprawling across 1200 sqm, Kirra Beach House is designed to put views of Kirra Beach on display, with cabanas and a wraparound veranda providing the best vantages.

"The Southern Gold Coast has been crying out for a venue like this but it was important for us to ensure it embodied the Kirra lifestyle," Mr Galvin said.

"Given our aspect, size, three cocktail bars, the drinks and food, we (will get to our goal) to be the best bar in Australia."

Albanese dodges cover-up question

Ellen Ransley, Jack Quail and Madeleine Achenza

Prime Minister Anthony Albanese has refused to say whether he believes the Morrison government tried to "cover up" Howard-era documents about Australia's involvement in the Iraq war.

It comes after the revelation on New Year's Day that 78 documents were missing from a now declassified file created in 2003, which reveal then-prime minister John Howard's decision-making process before Australia entered the Iraq war.

The documents suggest Mr Howard had decided to join the US-led invasion before taking the matter to cabinet.

Speaking at a press conference on Wednesday, Mr Albanese (inset) was asked if he was concerned about a "cover up" in regards to the missing documents.

"Well, that's why we have asked Dennis Richardson to do the review," he responded.

"I'm not aware of the circumstances. Obviously, I wasn't a member of the cabinet in 2003."

He went on to add there was "no public servant in Australia who is more respected" than Mr Richardson, the former defence department secretary.

Mr Richardson is due to report the results of his review in the next two weeks.

The Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet had revealed just hours before the 2003 papers were made public that the missing documents were not lost, but had not been handed over by the Morrison government to the archives, "oversights" it said was "likely as a result of Covid-19 disruptions at the time".

The department said the missing documents had been located on December 19 and had been since transferred to the archives.

Mr Albanese said on Wednesday that he expected all the missing documents to be released by the National Archives, save for anything that could compromise national security.

Dozen Aussies escape Japanese plane crash

Jet passengers safe after crash with smaller aircraft that killed five

AFP

Twelve Australians were on board the Japan Airlines passenger jet that collided with a Japan Coast Guard plane at Tokyo's Haneda Airport, according to Emergency Management Minister Murray Watt.

"I know this time of year, Japan is a pretty popular tourist destination for Australians. My understanding is that with the plane crash, there were about 12 Australian passengers on those planes, but none have been injured," Mr Watt told Sky News.

All 379 passengers and crew on board the passenger plane which burst into flames were safely evacuated, Japanese transport minister Tetsuo Saito told reporters.

But five of the six crew members from the smaller plane – bound for central Japan after Monday's huge earthquake – died, he said.

The captain escaped and survived but was injured, he said, cautioning that "we're not at the stage to explain the cause" of the accident.

Television and unverified footage shared on social media showed the Japan Airlines (JAL) airliner moving along the runway before a large eruption of orange flames and black smoke burst from beneath and behind it.

Video posted to social media platform X showed people sliding down an inflatable emergency slide from the side of the passenger plane while flames shot out from the rear of the aircraft.

All 367 passengers plus 12 crew on-board were swiftly taken off the plane before dozens of fire engines with flashing blue lights sprayed the fuselage.

They however failed to put out the flames coming out of windows near the wings and the blaze soon engulfed the entire aircraft.

The plane, reportedly an Airbus 350, had arrived from New Chitose Airport serving Sapporo on the northern island of Hokkaido. Those on board included eight children.

"Smoke began to fill the plane, and I thought, 'this could be really bad'", an adult male passenger told reporters.

"An announcement said doors in the back and middle could not be opened. So everyone disembarked from the front," he said.

A female passenger said it had been dark on-board as the fire intensified after landing.

"It was getting hot inside the plane, and I thought, to be honest, I would not survive," she said in comments shown on broadcaster NHK.

The coast guard plane had been preparing to fly to Ishikawa prefecture to deliver supplies after the devastating New Year's Day earthquake which killed at least 48 people.

Prime Minister Fumio Kishida praised the deceased crew members on their way to help the victims of the quake.

"These were employees who had a high sense of mission and responsibility for the affected areas. It's very regrettable," he told reporters at the airport.

"I express my respect and gratitude to their sense of mission," he said.

Haneda suspended domestic flights in the wake of the fire on the runway, according to its website, but most international takeoffs and landings were still operating.

There was also burning debris on the runway at Haneda, one of the world's busiest airports.

A transport ministry official said investigations into the incident were ongoing, including exchanges between the flights and air traffic control.

Japan has not suffered a serious commercial aviation accident in decades.

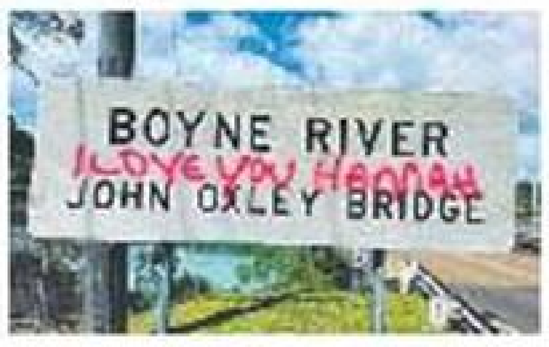
Its worst ever accident was in 1985, when a JAL jumbo jet flying from Tokyo to Osaka crashed in central Gunma region, killing 520 passengers and crew.

That disaster was one of the world's deadliest plane crashes involving a single flight.

Response to public 'love letter' goes viral

Jordan McCarthy

A public declaration of love has led to a response from an Australian deputy mayor that has gone viral, with his post gathering more than 5000 likes in just a few days.



Gladstone Regional Council Deputy Mayor Kahn Goodluck shared an image of a road sign that had "I love you Hannah" spray-painted across it in neon pink paint while also adding that the lovelorn artist's message had been "plastered all over town" at 20 or more other locations.

Mr Goodluck said he was sure Hannahs everywhere were appreciative of the attention, but the cost of fixing the signs would land on taxpayers.

"I'm sure everyone travelling around BITS over the last few days has noticed that someone out there really, REALLY loves Hannah," he wrote.

"While this very public display of affection has no doubt left many Hannahs feeling the love, it will cost ratepayers money for crews to head out and clean all this up.

"Please don't use public roads, road signs and car parks as your personal love letters."

Mr Goodluck did have alternative ideas for the local Romeo, however.

"You can try: Writing 'I love you Hannah' on a nice hand made card, buying some chocolates or a piece of jewellery or a surprise picnic in the park," he said.

If caught, the artist could face a fine as much as $3096.

We understand clucks

Seven out of 10 humans can correctly tell if a chicken is happy or not based on their clucks, according to Australian researchers.

A University of Queensland team recruited nearly 200 people and played them recordings of different chicken calls – some where they were expecting a reward and some from other contexts.

The researchers say 69 per cent of participants correctly guessed whether a chicken was excited about a potential reward, and previous experience didn't appear to change how accurate their guesses were.

The researchers say this provides evidence that we may be able to innately perceive the emotions of chickens, which could help us make better choices about their welfare.

Twisted takes on iconic Mickey

AFP

Barely 24 hours after Disney's initial copyright on Mickey Mouse expired, two new indie horror films starring the character have been announced.

Steamboat Willie, the first Disney movie to feature Mickey, entered the public domain under US law on Monday, 95 years on from its initial release.

That means anyone is now free to copy, share, reuse and adapt the primitive, early versions of the characters that appear within the film, including Mickey and girlfriend Minnie.

Despite warnings from Disney that it would seek to safeguard its most iconic character, opportunistic filmmakers had been expected to quickly announce their own unofficial remakes and adaptations – and they did not disappoint.

Mickey's Mouse Trap will feature a masked killer dressed as Mickey stalking a group of young friends through an amusement arcade, while another untitled horror-comedy sees a sadistic mouse tormenting unsuspecting ferry passengers.

"We just wanted to have fun with it all," said Mickey's Mouse Trap director Jamie Bailey, in a trailer posted on YouTube.

"I mean it's Steamboat Willie's Mickey Mouse murdering people. It's ridiculous. We ran with it and had fun doing it and I think it shows."

The low-budget horror-comedy is expected to launch in March.

Meanwhile filmmaker Steven LaMorte – known for The Mean One, a 2022 slasher romp inspired by The Grinch – is working on his own "twisted take" on Mickey.

"Steamboat Willie has brought joy to generations, but beneath that cheerful exterior lies a potential for pure, unhinged terror," he said.

Analysts say Disney is likely to send in the lawyers if anyone oversteps.

Only the earliest, black-and-white version of Mickey is in the public domain – not the colourful character from later Disney films like Fantasia. And trademark protections mean that any film or product that could mislead consumers into thinking it was made by Disney could be liable.

Meghan and Harry in Dusseldorf last year. Picture: Getty

'Redemption unlikely'

Tiffany Bakker

Meghan Markle and Prince Harry won't get the "year of redemption" they are hoping for in 2024, according to a royal author.

The Duke and Duchess of Sussex are said to be planning a fresh start, after facing backlash last year for their Netflix documentary and Prince Harry's bombshell biography, Spare.

"Harry and Meghan have let it be known that they see 2024 as their year of redemption, to which my reaction is 'good luck with that'," said royal expert and author Phil Dampier.

"It's a trite phrase dreamt up by their Hollywood PR people and in reality means very little. Actions speak louder than words and the Sussexes need to do things which will convince the public that they want to redeem themselves, not just talk about it."

The Sussexes' absence was strikingly apparent on Christmas Day when the rest of the royal family, including King Charles, Prince William and Kate Middleton, went to church at Sandringham.

Mr Dampier said the inclusion of Prince Andrew's former wife, Sarah Ferguson, on the Christmas guest list for the first time in years, sent a strong message.

"The royals put on a show of unity at Christmas, with even Prince Andrew's ex-wife Fergie being allowed to walk to church and join them for lunch," he said.

"The message was clear – everyone was welcome except Harry and Meghan."

Mr Dampier said Harry and Meghan could not "compete" with the Prince and Princess of Wales.

"I think the penny has finally dropped with them that they can never compete with an ancient institution admired around the world, particularly the goodwill still lingering from the late Queen's reign," he said.

"William and Kate have never been more popular and the Sussexes can't hold a candle to them."

Hamas deputy killed by drone

Fears conflict will widen

Andrew Koubaridis and Tiffany Bakker

Hamas's deputy leader was killed in an Israeli drone strike in suburban Beirut as Israel's war against Palestinian militants reached Lebanon.

Saleh al-Aruri was killed along with his bodyguards in the strike by Israel, which vowed to destroy Hamas after the movement's unprecedented October 7 attacks on Israel.

Aruri, one of the founders of Hamas' military wing, had headed the group's presence in the West Bank and had been a target for Israel even before the October 7 attack that killed 1,200 Israelis.

Israel has previously announced the killing in Gaza of Hamas commanders and officials during the war, but Aruri is the most high-profile figure to be killed, and his death came in the first strike on the Lebanese capital since the war began. Israeli army spokesman Daniel Hagari did not directly comment on Aruri's killing but said the military was "highly prepared for any scenario" in its aftermath.

A security official in Lebanon confirmed the information about Aruri's killing.

Lebanese state media reported the strike hit a Hamas office in Beirut's southern suburbs, a stronghold of Lebanon's Iran-backed Hezbollah movement, a Hamas ally.

Hamas TV also said Israel had killed Aruri in Lebanon, and Lebanese media reported a total of seven people were killed in the attack by an Israeli drone. The strike fuels widespread fears that the nearly three-month-old Israel-Hamas war could become a wider regional conflict.

Hamas said the killing would not lead to its defeat, while Hezbollah vowed Aruri's death would not go "unpunished".

Hezbollah called it "a serious assault on Lebanon ... and a dangerous development in the course of the war".

Lebanese Prime Minister Najib Mikati condemned the killing and said it "aims to draw Lebanon" further into the Israel-Hamas war.

In a call with Israeli war cabinet member Benny Gantz after the strike, French President Emmanuel Macron urged Israel to "avoid any escalatory attitude, particularly in Lebanon".

Since the fighting began on October 8, the fighting has been concentrated a few kilometres from the border but on several occasions Israel's air force hit Hezbollah targets deeper in Lebanon.

Earlier in the day, Hezbollah said its fighters carried out several attacks along the Lebanon-Israel border targeting Israeli military posts. It comes as Israeli troops announced they had also killed a Hamas commander who helped lead the October 7 attack.

Adil Mismah, the Nukhba Company Commander of the city of Deir al-Balah, was "eliminated," Israeli Defense Forces said via social media.

Mismah had led terrorists into the Kibbutz Kissufim and ordered other gunmen to ravage the communities of Nirim and Be'eri, according to The Jerusalem Post.

The commander was slain in an air strike directed by Israeli ground troops, officials said.

Drugs fear unfounded

A chemical used in the diabetes drug Ozempic and the weight-management drug Wegovy is not associated with an increased risk for suicidal thoughts, US researchers say.

The Case Western Reserve School of Medicine findings about the chemical – known as semaglutide – is significant because this summer the European Medicines Agency (EMA) launched an investigation of its potential dangers.

Semaglutide is a chemical of the glucagon-like peptide receptor (GLPIR) that helps regulate blood sugar in type 2 diabetes and reduces appetite.

After examining about two million patients, the research team found no evidence to support the EMA's concern that semaglutide may cause suicidal ideations.

Nostradamus' 2024 prophecy comes true

Ben Cost - New York Post

It was a literally groundbreaking prophecy.

As if Nostradamus' foretellings weren't eerily accurate enough, the iconic astrologer was apparently right on the money with yet another apocalyptic prophecy just hours into 2024.

Also known as the Prophet Of Doom, the 16th-century French philosopher is best known for his foreboding forecasts, which he chronicled in his 1555 text "Les Propheties".

These 943 verses are somewhat too vague to be sure, but Nostradamus has been credited with predicting everything from the Rise Of Adolf Hitler to Covid-19 like a 450-year-old Century "Simpsons" cartoon.

This time, the Frenchman was credited with forecasting the powerful earthquake that rocked Japan on New Year's Day. Outlining his predictions for 2024, the oracle wrote, "The dry Earth will become more parched and there will be great floods."

The psychic's followers reckoned that he could've been referring to the 7.5 magnitude tremor that struck the nation's Western coast, killing 48 people, toppling buildings and sparking 1m-high tsunamis.

According to reports, residents in coastal communities fled to higher ground as the waves battered the coast, sweeping houses and cars into the sea.

Nostradamus' prediction was apparently not the only harbinger of a seismic calamity.

Over the summer, divers in Taiwan encountered an injured giant oarfish, the "Doomsday fish" which is said to be a sign of impending earthquakes.

LAW AND ORDER

An absurdity

The Parole Board Queensland have completely mishandled the situation

WHAT the Beasley family have experienced in the past four years is something no family should ever experience.

The stabbing death of Jack Beasley on the streets of Surfers Paradise in December 2019 shocked the nation and shone a light on knife crime.

Tragically stabbed on a Surfers main street early on a Friday night out, he was just 17 years old.

The tragedy was a world-shattering blow to his parents Brett and Belinda. Their son had so much to live for and should have had decades ahead to fulfil his potential. Brett and Belinda's grief is unimaginable but they have worked hard to ensure their son did not die in vain.

The state government introduced Jack's Law which is aimed at curbing future knife crime and ensuring the tragedy the Beasley family have had to live with daily is never to be repeated again.

They, the police and the state government have worked in good faith to do this.

So it is absurd that the Parole Board Queensland (PBQ) made the decision to give one of his killers parole after completing half his sentence with scant regard for Jack's parents feelings. They gave the Beasleys 21 days to respond to the bid, only to say four days later that it had already been granted.

It comes just weeks after the fourth anniversary of Jack's death.

The young man had been due for release on January 15 after just four years behind bars before the decision was reversed following community outrage.

The state government on Tuesday confirmed the decision would be reviewed and hours later, the PBQ released a statement saying the man's parole had been cancelled.

The Beasley family was informed a "mistake" had been made and offered an apology.

The Beasleys have welcomed the decision but it should never have been made in the first place.

While offenders should, and indeed have the right to be released after serving their sentence, the way this situation was handled beggars belief.

This family has already been through so much, the least they deserved was to be respected in the process.

SENDING IN THE SAS...
THE SES WERE HARD TO FIND AND THEY WEAR BRIGHT ORANGE

Letters

Driving through an intersection in Nerang on Monday, I gave a toot and appreciative thumbs-up to a truck full of weary, bedraggled-looking SES workers who had been clearing the roads and storm damage.

Their faces lit up with cheery smiles and they waved back good-naturedly.

Getting through this week of hardship and destruction, it only takes little acts of encouragement and positivity for people to keep each other uplifted and feeling valued. A stark contrast to a laundromat earlier where a woman wearing a "f … the patriarchy" T-shirt was complaining loudly "stupid men" hadn't gotten the power on quick enough at her house, forcing her to use the public facility.

Some people look at the good, no matter how challenging, some others see only negativity and blame.

PAUL ROSS, SUNSHINE COAST

As a member of a peace group and various environmental groups I wish to say how appalled I am our governments at all levels support the continuation of supplying armaments to various Cold Wars and those who bear arms against other countries who have never attacked our country.

The Military Establishment insist on giving Weapons of Mass Destruction, soldiers and personnel who operate the launchers, aircraft carriers, planes, rockets, grenades, gas attacks despite those countries not even asking for their help. All these many explosions heat the atmosphere and the ocean and they seem to care little for Australians suffering flooding, destruction of their businesses, homelessness and destructiveness of infrastructure.

They also drown millions of Australian native animals, birds and insects. The cyclonic weather uproots trees, other vegetation and oxygen they give us but our leaders do not care about the misery they have caused as well as their lack of action to mitigate climate change when solutions have been available for 50 years. Thousands of submissions made by ratepayers and citizens have been ignored by those in power. Surely we must change before most of us drown.

ANNE SUTHERLAND, ROBINA

About 20 years ago I got an arborist to inspect my tree and he said it's a gum, and needs to be cut down before the storm season arrives, as it could crash onto my house roof and harm or possibly kill us, yet this stagnant council flatly rejected my proposal, as well as the arborist recommendation.

I visited my solicitor, and asked him to write a stern letter to Council stating that regarding their refusal to allow it to be cut down, if it does fall on my roof, then council must accept full responsibility. Within 14 days I received a letter of approval saying to cut it down which I did. Never allow yourself to be intimidated by any Council.

Left's attack a big blow to our social cohesion

James Morrow

It feels like the annual fight over Australia Day comes around earlier and earlier every year.

Perhaps it's because the Bureau of Meteorology failed to deliver on its promise of a long, hot summer to keep us otherwise distracted.

Or maybe it's because after the Voice, everyone's nerves are a bit on edge over the subject. But either way, the battle is on – again.

A few days ago we learned that 81 councils across the country had decided to ditch their Australia Day citizenship ceremonies out of respect for Aboriginal sensibilities, despite the country voting overwhelmingly against precisely this sort of racialised grandstanding at the referendum.

Now, of course this is bad.

It is yet another example of local government doing the opposite of what local voters want and thinking their remit goes beyond the honourable if dull trinity of rates, roads and rubbish.

The trend against Australia Day citizenship ceremonies is also precisely what Prime Minister Anthony Albanese hoped would develop when he opened the door to councils freelancing date changes when he modified the rules around these things back in December 2022.

And it is another blow against Australia's social cohesion, which is already fraying badly.

Our formerly easygoing, reasonably high trust society is, by any measure, doing poorly.

Whether it is something sinister like ethnic mobs intimidating Jews and forcing changes to government policy on Israel or more subtle developments like electronic gates at supermarkets (message: we think you're all thieves) there is a growing sense that we are no longer all in this together. The most recent Scanlon Social Cohesion Report put numbers behind this: Just 48 per cent of us now feel a strong sense of belonging and only 33 per cent feel a strong pride in the Australian way of life.

No wonder progressives – despite the referendum loss – think they are pushing on an open door in their attempt to remake Australia and crack our common foundations.

So, what are conservatives and non-political Australians who just want to feel a part of, and pride in, their nation supposed to do?

The first thing, as always, is to recognise that there is a problem.

Then, stop shying away from the solutions. That the so-called progressive side of politics has wanted to hollow out the meaning of modern Australia for its own cynical purposes is well documented.

For the left, post-First Fleet Australia was an illegitimate and genocidal monstrosity that only began to redeem itself with the official adoption of multiculturalism.

Our British inheritance is looked upon as something tacky and a bit shameful, like a slightly embarrassing handed-down collection of commemorative plates no one quite knows what to do with. At the same time the story of us as a prison colony turned prosperous democracy is a triumph that does not fit the narrative.

Yet the right, too, has to shoulder some of the blame.

In office for nine years, the Coalition did nothing serious to reform Julia Gillard's disastrous Australian Curriculum.

Many in the Coalition have also shied away from these discussions for fear of being seen as "nativist" or have been seduced by Big Australia business lobbies that see population growth in solely economic terms.

Beyond lip service to "a fair go" and "mateship", the collective Australian ideal has, over time, started to ring a bit hollow. Particularly for young Australians who feel comprehensively dudded by the housing market and whose ire is being stoked by a weird coalition of property developers, activists and think-tank economists. The result is that the citizenship that may or may not be conferred to migrants on Australia Day is less about joining a family with a proud (if, yes, imperfect) story to tell and more about locking in one's status to vote and stay and claim Medicare. And when, even with that citizenship, new Australians are told to preserve the old ways, not only does it raise the question "what's the point?" but it can get downright dangerous.

Think about how, Scott Morrison's admirable and tough stance on China was blamed for the Liberals losing Australian voters of Chinese extraction in key seats at the 2022 election. This is not to say that ethnic constituencies are acting as fifth columns but it is to note that they are lacking any sort of meaningful idea around what it is to be Australian.

OSCAR CAINER
For free forecasts go

Today, as Mars (the power planet) moves into earthy Capricorn, it gears up to create a talent triangle. This formation involves Mars and Jupiter working in harmony, encouraged by the cosmic teacher, Saturn. Together, they paint a picture of a growing confidence in our ability to turn ideas into progress. But we can't sit back and just hope for the best. The more enthusiasm we apply to our work, the better, and the faster the results of our efforts will be seen.

ARIES MAR 21–APR 20

There's no point in me telling you that today is the first day of the rest of your life. You're very familiar with the expression. You know that even though it might feel similar to yesterday (and tomorrow), it's not. Which emphasises the value of today's forecast. The new year is under way and your ruler, Mars, is playing a key role in the exciting cosmic outlook. You have the freedom to transform what you want in your world. Why not choose today to be the day to start turning your life into what you want it to be?

LEO JUL 24–AUG 23

Before you can set out on the high-seas adventure of 2024, you need to get some work done on your boat. For now, you're in a safe harbour getting on with some rather dull jobs. It's easy to think of other things to do (that would be much more fun), but the tasks you need to complete aren't as tedious as you think. Nor are they going to take long to finish. If you look towards the horizon, you'll get a feel for the opportunities ahead. Preparations you're doing now will enable you to sail out and seize them.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 23–DEC 21

The start of 2024 is a bit like one of those complicated jigsaws. You don't seem to have an image of what it will look like once it's complete. In fact, you're not even sure you've got all the pieces. You're managing to fit some parts together, but they won't join up into a cohesive picture. It's frustrating. Yet with power planet Mars moving into earthy Capricorn, you'll find it easier to concentrate. If you stay motivated, you'll soon find a way to put everything together in a way that makes perfect sense.

TAURUS APR 21–MAY 21

Why do we think being stubborn is wrong? I think it's a quality that needs to be appreciated. So many people give up at the first obstacle, or change their minds at the drop of a hat. Thank goodness for Taureans. You're not afraid to stand up for your beliefs. Right now though, it's worth questioning if this could be a time when a compromise would be more effective. A small concession could have positive effects today (and if needed, you can always go back to your original stance).

VIRGO AUG 24–SEP 23

It's all a matter of perspective. Depending on how we feel, and what we want to see, we view the situations we're dealing with very differently. When we're optimistic, we can find silver linings, even in difficult scenarios. But when we're not, it's as if we're wearing dark shades, which give everything a gloomy look. Today, as dynamic Mars enters earthy Capricorn, it brings the energy to fan a glimmer of hope into a realistic aspiration. With just a simple change of attitude, you can take steps to make your future brighter.

CAPRICORN DEC 22–JAN 20

Dynamic Mars enters your sign today, and as 2024 progresses, you'll feel increasingly aware that the sky has your best interests at heart. The cosmic support you're receiving will be reflected by the opportunities coming your way. If you're not yet feeling galvanised into action, you don't have long to wait. Meanwhile, try focusing on the potential available to you today. Even if it doesn't feel like much, it hides a small treasure, and with the right attitude, you can encourage it to grow into something valuable.

GEMINI MAY 22–JUN 22

Questions always pop up at the start of a new year. What should you be doing with your life? What do you need to feel fulfilled and happy? These kinds of ponderings are tricky as they can throw us into a quagmire of self-doubt. Does anyone feel successful all the time? I doubt it. The best strategy to follow is to be confident that whatever you're doing right now, and wherever you're doing it, it's the right thing to be doing. With this attitude any doubts will disappear and you'll be on the path to progress.

LIBRA SEP 24–OCT 23

It's astonishing how we sometimes find ourselves doing the opposite of what we know we should do. We step on the brake (rather than the accelerator). Or we say no to something we ought to say yes to. It's easy, with hindsight, to see we'd have been better off following a different course. Yet looking back with regret is never helpful. If you want to maximise the opportunities 2024 brings your way, you just need to forgive yourself and move on. With a clear conscience, you'll be unstoppable.

AQUARIUS JAN 21–FEB 19

There's no denying the fact that you're moving into the future. The new year stretches ahead of you like a blank canvas of possibilities. I hope you're ready, because there's no going back. If you're regretting a recent choice which left you feeling uncomfortable, as you move deeper into the new year you'll grow more at ease with it. Deep down, you're growing more confident you're on the right track. Today, as Mars moves into your neighbouring sign, even tentative steps forwards will take you further than you think.

CANCER JUN 23–JUL 23

You don't usually struggle to articulate your ideas. So, to find yourself unable to say what's in your heart is making you uneasy. You're worried that if you speak out, you'll cause an upset. You're probably right, yet your instincts are spot on and you're right to think something needs to be discussed. Be as diplomatic as you can be today (but don't be afraid to be bold). You've got the insight and skills to be able to talk about the elephant in the room. Once it's in the open, everyone will be relieved, and able to move on.

SCORPIO OCT 24–NOV 22

How badly do you want what you want? Hmm... Instead of how badly, maybe we should use more positive language. How deeply maybe? What's important, is that you remember you don't need to focus on one thing to the detriment of everything else. The start of 2024 is about aspiring to achieve your deepest desire. You need to be dedicated (even when the road ahead isn't smooth), but stay open-minded enough to be able to adapt your approach. The cosmos helps you find the right balance today.

PISCES FEB 20–MAR 20

We talk about there being no time like the present. But it's hard to pinpoint when the present actually is. It was certainly a different present when the saying originated more than 450 years ago! Maybe you're better off going along with whatever 2024 brings your way, and trust that you'll recognise the time to instigate change when it appears? On second thoughts, don't do that. If you're meant to wait, the cosmos will create distractions, but if there are none of those around today, seize the moment.

THE
GUIDE

Best is yet to come

Siobhan Duck flags seven new shows that will keep you glued to the small screen in 2024

The Regime (Binge) This sweeping miniseries sees Kate Winslet (pictured) play a despot trying to hold on to the last vestiges of her power in a fictional European country. Hugh Grant co-stars as the opposition leader, whose jailing triggers unrest and the arrival of the US secretary of state (Martha Plimpton). Premieres February 26.

Swift Street (SBS and SBS On Demand) This series follows street-smart Elsie (Tanzyn Crawford), who discovers that her old-school hustler father, Robert (Cliff Curtis), is being hunted down by a merciless crime boss over a bad debt. When the 21-year-old decides to help him, it sparks the beginnings of a reconciliation – and their dubious reign as partners in crime. Coming in 2024.

The Twelve (Binge) Sam Neill returns as Brett Colby, a shrewd barrister who travels to rural Western Australia with his co-counsel, Meredith Nelson-Moore (Frances O'Connor), to take on a high-profile murder case. Like the first season, this courtroom drama takes viewers inside the jury room, where we learn about the biases of those sitting in judgement. Coming in 2024.

Top Gear Australia (Paramount+) An Aussie version of the popular UK format was first given a test drive back in 2008 on SBS. Can the new hosts Beau Ryan, Jonathan LaPaglia and Blair Joscelyne recapture the energy and chemistry of the original? Coming in 2024.

Return To Paradise (ABC TV and iview) The British–French crime comedy Death In Paradise franchise hits our shores with this spin-off about an Aussie expat in the London police force who returns to her hometown of Dolphin Cove – where she finds herself solving a lot of murders. Coming in 2024.

The Last Anniversary (Binge) Based on the bestseller by Liane Moriarty (Big Little Lies), this thriller stars Teresa Palmer as a single woman who inherits a house on an island filled with secrets – and unwelcoming townsfolk. Coming in 2024.

Dream Home (Seven Network and 7Plus) Dr Chris Brown hosts this new renovation show in which six couples turn their humble homes into showstoppers, room-by-room. Coming in 2024.

JAG Australia summer launch, The Langham Gold Coast

An Aussie fashion label made famous by Mick Jagger, Steve McQueen, Jackie Kennedy and Frank Sinatra chose to launch their latest summer collection on the Gold Coast. For too long, we've been overlooked as a destination for designer dress-code and JAG is leading the way to break that. The heritage brand of 50 years hosted content creators for a long lunch at the Langham, some flying interstate for five-star hospitality. Head of Design Katie von Dadelszen said the Coast's climate lends itself to a cool capsule wardrobe: "95 percent of the collection is natural materials, we've got e-certified linens, global organic textile cottons and really beautiful natural breathable fibres. The collection is called 'Of Place' — it's about people's connection to country, place and travel. It has been so beautiful to see so many beautiful women, such big names, wearing JAG how they want to wear it," she said. Akoya's private dining delivered a fitting menu for the season including five courses, from fresh pacific oysters to wood-fired Moreton bay bugs.

BYD overtakes Tesla in drive for EV power

Rebecca Elliott

Chinese automaker BYD for the first time topped Tesla as the world's largest seller of electric vehicles on a quarterly basis, a sign of China's emerging strength in the global market for battery-powered cars.

BYD reported selling more than 526,000 fully electric vehicles in the fourth quarter of 2023, compared with Tesla's sales of nearly 485,000 for the same period.

Tesla remained ahead of BYD for the full year though.

Elon Musk's electric-car maker said it delivered about 1.8 million EVs worldwide in 2023, meeting its full-year guidance and slightly beating Wall Street's expectations.

The figure was 38 per cent higher than the previous year, showing that Tesla's growth rate slowed slightly as the company has entered an increasingly competitive chapter defined by more gradual expansion and slimmer profit margins.

By comparison, the Warren Buffett-backed BYD sold nearly 1.6 million battery-powered vehicles last year, up more than 70 per cent over 2022. Overall sales of more than three million new-energy vehicles in 2023 were up 62 per cent from a year earlier.

Though nearly 90 per cent of BYD's sales still came from China in December, its exports have been growing fast – overseas sales in the second half of 2023 more than tripled from a year earlier.

Tesla's results come as concerns are growing on Wall Street about the level of demand for the company's cars – and electric vehicles more broadly – in the year ahead.

The electric-car market has shown signs of cooling after a period of heady growth that has driven robust profit margins for Tesla.

In the US, some automakers are finding fewer people are ready to go electric than they expected, as anxieties about finding enough places to publicly charge persist and higher interest rates make cars more difficult to afford.

Rival electric-vehicle maker Rivian Automotive delivered 50,122 EVs last year, missing Wall Street's expectations. Its vehicle sales for the fourth quarter fell 10 per cent over the third quarter, despite an increase in factory output.

Other major car companies are expected to report year-end sales figures for the US this week.

Abroad, competition continues to intensify in the EV space.

Tesla's share of China's electric-vehicle market has held relatively steady, ticking up to nearly 12 per cent in the first 11 months of 2023, from almost 11 per cent in the same period the year prior. Full-year sales figures for the country have yet to be reported.

Tesla's shares kicked off 2024 in the red amid widespread declines on the tech-focused Nasdaq index.

Tesla shares roughly doubled in value in 2023 as the company slashed prices to juice demand and Wall Street regained confidence in the company's ability to execute on its longer-term plans.

Tesla aims to develop autonomous cars and halve production costs for its next generation of vehicles, which is widely expected to include a more affordable car.

In the near term, many investors are bracing for a tougher year ahead. Tesla delivered its first Cybertruck utility vehicles to customers late last year, a milestone for a company that hadn't rolled out a new passenger-vehicle model in three years.

Meanwhile, Tesla's steep price cuts over the past year have squeezed the company's once industry-leading operating margin, which as of the third quarter had fallen more in line with other major automakers.

Some on Wall Street question how much more room Tesla has to grow without another less expensive car in its line-up. Its Model 3 sedan and Model Y crossover made up 96 per cent of Tesla's global deliveries last year.

The least expensive Model 3 starts at about $US39,000 ($57,500) in the US.

Tesla is scheduled to report year-end financial results on January 24.

Iron ore majors remain strong

Valerina Changarathil

The strong outperformance of iron ore majors in 2023 is likely to run for at least the next six months with China's steel production at "robust levels and expected to move higher", analysts at Citi say.

While slowing global growth is expected to be a headwind for metals this year, the momentum underpinning China's steel build-up and potential higher than expected earnings are strong tailwinds for the sector.

It comes as China's port inventories of iron ore are struggling to recover given ongoing supply-side tightness.

Citi's research head Paul McTaggart said the broker was looking for a reversal in iron ore/metals performance – but not until well into the second half of this year.

"In addition, consensus estimates for iron ore prices in Q4 CY23 and 1H CY24 look too low, so earnings momentum for the iron ore exposures is expected to remain positive in the first months of CY24."

On Wednesday, iron ore futures on the Singapore exchange were stronger at around $US142.55 a tonne – close to its 21-month high of $US143 a tonne a day earlier.

These prices are still higher than first-half consensus iron ore price forecast of $US108/tonne and Citi's estimate of $US125 a tonne.

That milestone on Tuesday triggered record closing prices for Rio Tinto at $136.57 and Fortescue at $29.39.

Both are tracking losses on Wednesday afternoon – in line with the overall ASX 200 slump of more than 1 per cent. Rio is down near $134.89 and Fortescue near $28.99.

On Wednesday, Fortescue confirmed it is "on target for normal operations to resume today" in WA's Pilbara region after a derailment on Saturday. No one was injured in the incident that involved multiple iron ore cars derailed about 150km south of Port Hedland. The incident did not have an impact on December or first-half shipped tonnes, but it's not clear if January exports are affected.

Citi retained its buy rating on Rio Tinto and left BHP at neutral.

Don't click! Parcel delivery texts to stop in bid to beat scams

Jared Lynch

E-commerce companies are set to phase out text messages alerting people of when parcels are likely to be delivered this year in an attempt to close a common entry point for cyber criminals.

Richard Thame, chief executive of Singapore Post-owned Couriers Please, expects more companies to switch to Amazon-style app notifications.

"It's very rare for consumers in advanced overseas economies to get a tracking link via SMS," Mr Thame said.

"Clickable links on mobile devices will die off over the next year. Its life has probably been prolonged here in Australia.

"And I think there's a whole new generation of consumers who are using social platforms, so I think the next stage is that more seamless integration with the various other social platforms as well."

SMiShing, a variant of phishing, is a common tactic cyber criminals use, involving sending simple text messages with an urgent "call to action", such as asking where they would like a parcel delivered or to unlock and verify an account.

Once a fraudulent link is clicked, hackers can gain access to personal information, and mobile phones, banking apps and email inboxes, potentially fleecing people of their life savings.

In the first 10 months of last year, Australians reported more than 11,000 parcel delivery scams to Scamwatch, with more than $720,000 lost.

It is understood many more scams are unreported out of embarrassment.

People are at greatest risk of falling victim to the scams during peak delivery periods such as Christmas, when they might not scrutinise SMS alerts as closely.

Scammers are also more sophisticated at impersonating legitimate delivery providers, such as Australia Post, making it harder for customers to tell what is genuine.

Fake invoicing is a common type of scam that has hit car dealers, real estate agents and customers.

Customers are advised to verify bank account details when a payment is requested in writing via email to mitigate the risk of such attacks.

The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission offers similar advice in regard to SMS parcel delivery scams.

"Never click on links in text messages or emails, even if you're expecting a delivery," ACCC deputy chair Catriona Lowe said.

Jewel to bypass big Mile

Chris Vernuccio

Simon Miller has confirmed West Australian star Amelia's Jewel will stay home in the autumn before he considers a return to the east for a possible tilt at The Everest.

With the Group 1-winning mare due to return to work next week, Miller decided against another trip to Melbourne for the $4m All-Star Mile (March 16), opting to instead target the $5m The Quokka (1200m) in April.

The Perth trainer said the Melbourne autumn would come too soon for Amelia's Jewel, who is returning from an injury sustained in the Golden Eagle last November.

Amelia's Jewel needed stitches for a laceration to her near-fore fetlock that required her to remain under vet supervision before she was allowed to fly back to WA.

"She'll come back into work next week," Miller said. "Her action is really good. When I brought her back from Sydney I put her into work for a week to just have a look at her in action and her attitude was perfect, so she went out on a good note.

"I just thought the autumn was too close for the All-Star Mile."

Amelia's Jewel finished a close second to Overpass in last year's inaugural The Quokka. She'll again use the Group 3 Roma Cup (1100m) as her only lead-up run.

But Conners filly is no joke

Mitch Cohen

A promising filly named following a comical phone call with larrikin owner John Singleton could have gun trainer Clarry Conners dreaming of another Golden Slipper tilt after Friday.

Mrs Maree will make her highly anticipated debut for Conners' yard at Canterbury Park as she looks to lay down an autumn marker for the stable.

The daughter of Written Tycoon is raced by longtime client Singleton, with whom Conners combined to win the 2000 Golden Slipper with Belle De Jour.

Their latest filly had remained nameless leading into her first trial before a phone call with Conners' wife Maree.

"Maree rang him up and said 'John, you still don't have a name for that filly' and he rung back and said 'I just named it Mrs Maree'," Conners said.

"When he rings me now, he asks me how 'Maree' is going and I tell him both are well."

Singleton famously shouted the bar when Belle Du Jour won an amazing Slipper.

It was Conners' fourth win in the race after he had first claimed the Slipper with two-year-old triple crown winner Tierce in 1991 before Burst completed the same feat for the stable a year later.

Prowl delivered Conners his third Slipper victory in 1998.

While the Canterbury Park meeting on Friday is a long way from the Slipper, Conners has been impressed with what he's seen from Mrs Maree in the lead-up to her debut.

The daughter of Written Tycoon has won both trials this preparation at Wyong and Rosehill Gardens before her debut in the Bivouac First Yearlings Maiden Handicap (1100m).

"She is a very kind filly and is very athletic looking," Conners said. "She is a dream to train. There are no tricks to her, she is just so easy to train and she shows a fair bit of potential."

Mrs Maree was snapped up for $500,000 at last year's Magic Millions Gold Coast Yearling Sale for Singleton.

Even before her first race start, Mrs Maree is a $51 chance for this year's Golden Slipper.

Aussies' Asia Cup belief

Qatar 'a happy place'

Martin Gabor

Craig Goodwin

It's been nine years since their famous Asian Cup win on home soil and Socceroos star Craig Goodwin "genuinely believes" the Aussies can go all the way at this year's tournament in Qatar that begins next week.

The Socceroos are one of the favourites to win the event on the back of their strong World Cup showing in 2022 and they'll be out to make an early statement when they face Bahrain in a warm-up match on Sunday morning.

The match will be a great chance for some of the players to get used to the hot conditions in the Middle East – something Goodwin has grown accustomed to at his Saudi club Al-Wehda where he scored a goal and set another up last week.

The Socceroos are 25th in the FIFA rankings, with Japan, Iran and South Korea the only Asian nations ahead of them.

It's why there's a quiet optimism they can go all the way having reached the quarter-finals in 2019 when they were bundled out by the UAE.

"I genuinely believe we have the squad to win the Asian Cup," Goodwin said.

"It's going to be hard and difficult but we have a good group with a good mentality. We have the potential to do something special here."

Australia opens its campaign against India next Saturday before taking on Syria and Uzbekistan in Group B.

It's easy to get caught up in the emotion of the Socceroos returning to Qatar, where they got past the group stage and were eventually knocked out by Lionel Messi and Argentina, who went on to win the World Cup, but Goodwin said it was a clean slate this time around.

"Qatar has been a happy place for myself and for us but it's about coming in with a different mindset and mentality. Coming in with more hunger to do more great things here," he said.

"None of us can get caught up in the thought process that we've done well here in the past and that it's going to come easy.

"We have aspirations to win the Asian Cup and to do that we have to have a ruthless mentality and to be focused on what's coming next.

"Although we're very happy with what we've done here in the past, that is in the past and we've got the here and now to focus on to try to bring the Asian Cup back to Australia."

Oli the cat has last meow

The two-hander Sylph VI – with Oli the cat aboard – was the 85th and last boat to finish the 2023 Sydney to Hobart to a hero's welcome while several big names have already confirmed they will miss the 2024 edition south.

Emotional skipper Bob Williams, crewmate Chris Warren and feline Oli the cat arrived in Hobart at 8.26am on Wednesday with a record for the boat – its slowest ever trip in the Australian bluewater classic.

The agonisingly slow journey saw them arrive seven days, 19 hours, 26 minutes and 15 seconds after Sylph started the race at 1pm on Boxing Day.

Sylph's previous slowest Sydney to Hobart race was set in 1962 when she took seven days, 17 hours, 13 minutes and two seconds.

But there was one good bit of news for the team on the race tailender – they just managed to avoid finishing last in the PHS handicap race.

Sylph VI's slow progress saw her finish second last in the PHS handicap division, won by Will Vicars' Oroton Drumfire, with David Hows' Silver Fern earning the dubious honour of finishing last in this division of the race.

"I think it's quite amazing the way people have taken to Oli," said Williams, a retired naval officer

"He's just a part of my crew, wherever I sail."

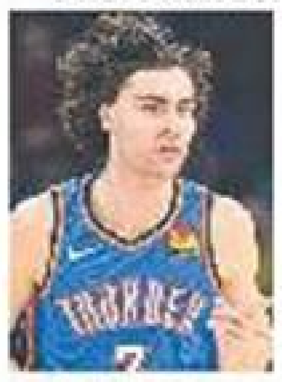
Sylph VI's trip was five days slower than Christian Beck's LawConnect, which pipped Andoo Comanche by 51 seconds in the closest finish in decades for the line honours on December 28 at 8.03am.

Giddey stars in thriller

Josh Giddey has delivered his best performance of what has been a difficult season as the Oklahoma City Thunder secured an impressive win over Eastern Conference powerhouse Boston on Wednesday.

The 21-year-old drained four threes on his way to a season-high 23 points to go with eight rebounds and six assists.

It helped propel the Thunder to a 127-123 win over the Celtics in what lived up to the billing of a top of the table clash. The Celtics sit first in the East while the Thunder are second in the Western Conference.



Josh Giddey

The Thunder looked set for a comfortable win after extending their lead out to 18 points in the fourth quarter only for the Celtics to mount a late comeback, capitalising on a series of turnovers from Oklahoma to move to within two points with a minute to go.

The Thunder settled, however, and closed the game out thanks to 36 points from point guard Shai Gilgeous-Alexander and two clutch late free throws from Giddey.

It was their fifth straight win, a run that includes beating the current top teams in the East and West plus the reigning champions.

It continues a strong run of recent form for Giddey who equalled a career-high four three-pointers in a 20-point display against the Brooklyn Nets on New Year's Day.

The NBA world was impressed with what they saw from the Australian who has struggled this season and found his minutes reduced.

That has prompted speculation the Thunder, who hold a bounty of draft picks, could be motivated to make a trade before the deadline.

Wednesday's performance will go a long way to showing Giddey has an important role alongside Thunder trio Gilgeous-Alexander, Chet Holmgren and Jalen Williams.

Chidiac's desperate for more game time

Alex Chidiac doesn't normally get nervous but with so little time spent on a football field last year that was how she felt sitting on the bench in her Melbourne Victory kit.

The 24-year-old, who has donned the Matildas jersey 33 times since 2015, is just desperate to get back to doing the thing she loves – playing football.

Chidiac was named in the World Cup squad but given limited minutes off the bench in three matches.

After the World Cup she was relegated to the bench at the Mexican club at which she was on loan and dumped from the Matildas squad for the two-match friendly series against Canada last month.

She was eventually recalled to the Matildas following injuries to Sam Kerr and Holly McNamara.

The dynamic midfielder has re-signed with Melbourne Victory in the hope of increasing her game time and getting her mojo back.

Chidiac launched her professional football career in 2014 at age 15 with her home club Adelaide United in the then W-League. She played nine games and scored a goal.

Snoop out for Games scoop as NBC reporter

Rapper Snoop Dogg will be a special reporter for US broadcaster NBC at the Paris Olympics this year.

The network has announced he will reprise his star turn at the Tokyo Games that delighted viewers.

"I grew up watching the Olympics and am thrilled to see the incredible athletes bring their A-game to Paris," Snoop Dogg said.

NBC's vice president of Olympic production, Molly Solomon, said Snoop's commentating on dressage at the Tokyo Olympics had gone viral and "earned Snoop a job as our special correspondent in Paris".

Snoop Dogg

"We don't know what the heck is going to happen every day but we know he will add his unique perspective to our re-imagined Olympic prime-time show," Solomon said.

In a video, the Drop It Like It's Hot rapper brings his signature style and humour to interviews with athletes.

Teen Littler takes aim at darts title

Teenage darts sensation Luke Littler has brushed aside eighth seed Rob Cross to advance into the final of the world championship.

Littler started nervously and lost the first set to Cross, the 2018 world champion, who averaged 108.7 to his younger counterpart's average of 103.2.

But the 16-year-old quickly found the form that has made him a household name in England. Though he averaged 98.7 to Cross' 108.3 in the second set, Littler nailed 75 per cent of his doubles while Cross had a sloppy conversion rate of just 29 per cent as the teen levelled the contest.

Despite Cross' best efforts – including an absurdly-high average of 114.5 in the fourth set – Littler gave his rival nothing as he won two consecutive sets to take a 3-1 lead.

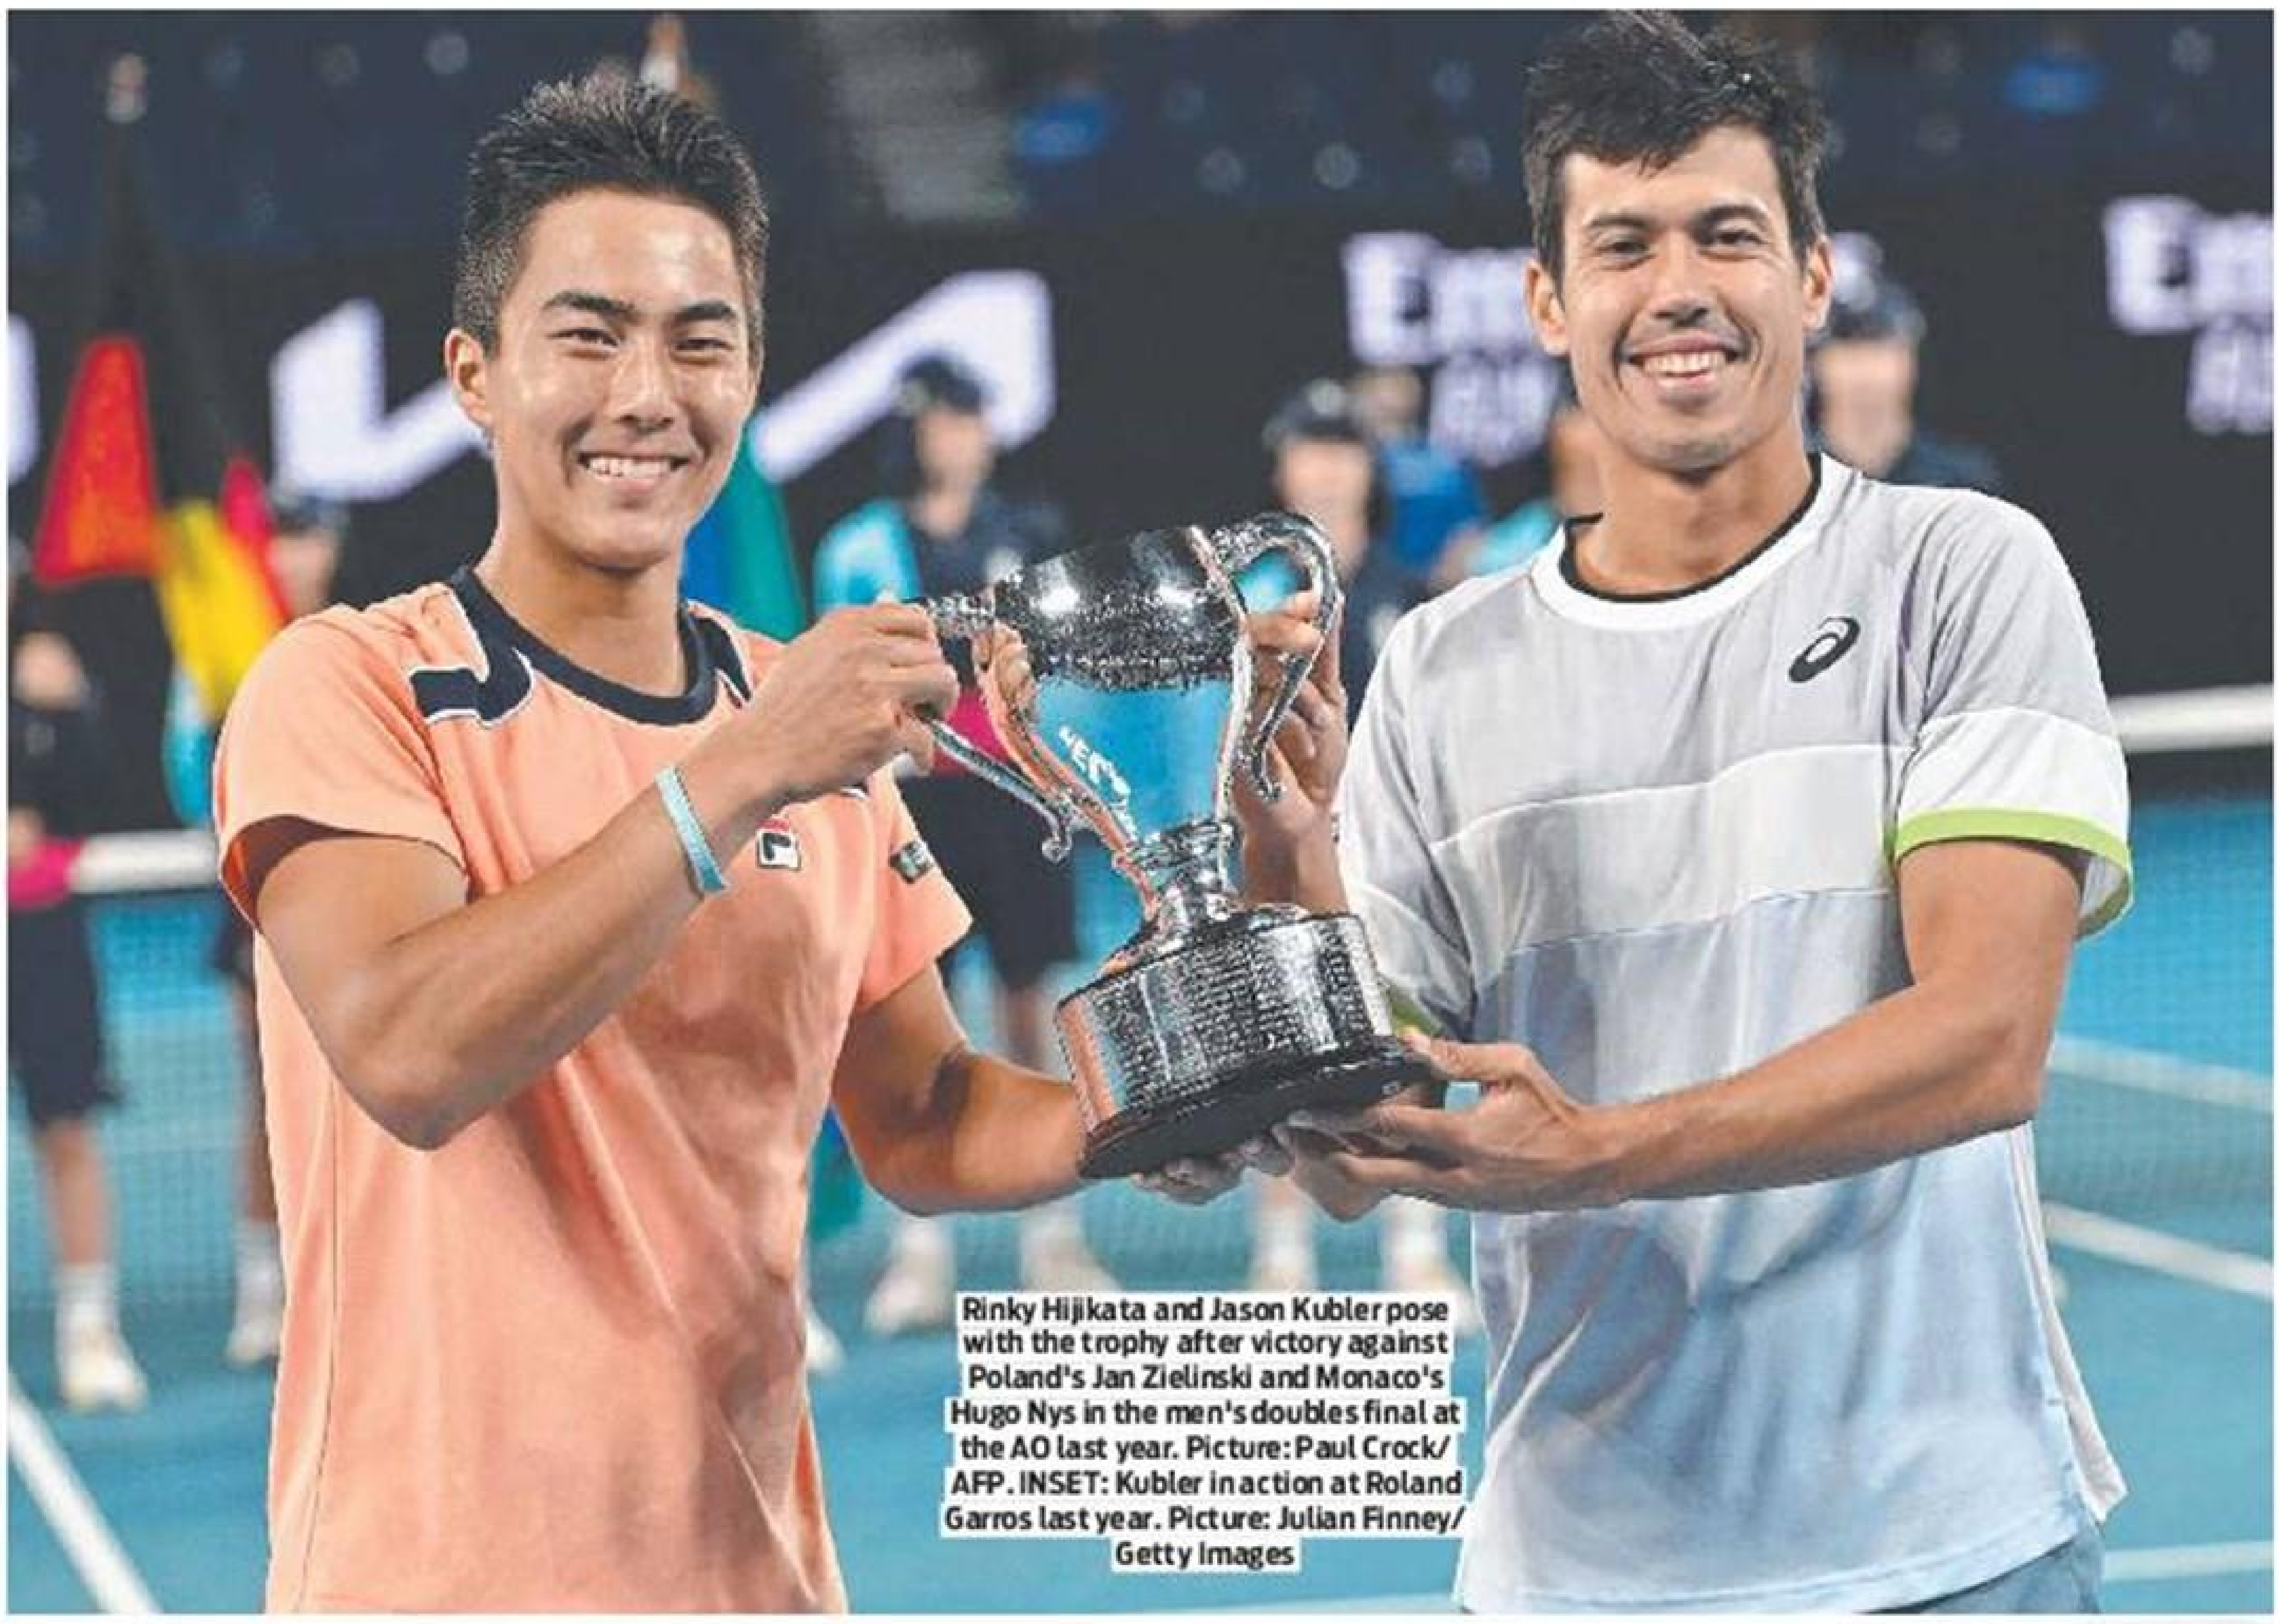
Cross managed to snatch the fifth set despite averaging 91.7 to Littler's 98.2, but it only added fuel for the teenager to fire on the biggest stage.

Littler is to next meet the winner of the other semi final, which is between Scott Williams and world No.3 Luke Humphries, in the world championships final.

ULTIMATE TEST LOOMS

Australian relishing the chance to go up against one of the game's all-time greats

Callum Dick



Rinky Hijikata and Jason Kubler pose with the trophy after victory against Poland's Jan Zielinski and Monaco's Hugo Nys in the men's doubles final at the AO last year. Picture: Paul Crock/ AFP. INSET: Kubler in action at Roland Garros last year. Picture: Julian Finney/ Getty Images

Jason Kubler was fighting a fierce first round battle against Aslan Karatsev on Show Court 1 when the roar came from inside Pat Rafter Arena.

He and Karatsev were forced to briefly pause their second set as the crowd next door erupted with delight, signalling Rafael Nadal's victory over Dominic Thiem.

Both men immediately knew what it meant. The winner would be facing one of the greatest of all time in the next round.

Suddenly the stakes were even higher.

"I think we both definitely knew that Rafa had won and that we were (going to play) Rafa – it was very obvious who won," Kubler said ahead of his Thursday night meeting with the 22-time Grand Slam champion.

"We had to stop play a couple of times because of it, in a couple of big moments in our match because the crowd was cheering for Rafa."

Kubler would go on to lose the second set in a close tiebreaker, however his Russian opponent went down with what looked to be a serious knee injury and was forced to retire from the match.

The stage was then set: Kubler versus Nadal. A Brisbane International second round clash set to divide the tennis diehards.

In Kubler they have the local hope; the Brisbane boy who trained on Pat Rafter Arena for more than a decade.

Then there is Nadal, the two-time Australian Open champion and arguably the most popular player in the sport's history, who could be playing Down Under for the final time this year.

Kubler heard the cheers. The "Rafa Rafa Rafa, Oi Oi Oi".

He will command serious home crowd support on Thursday night. But there will undoubtedly be pro-Nadal pockets within Pat Rafter Arena.

"To be honest if they cheer for him or me it's going to be special regardless," Kubler said.

"However the match or the crowd happens to be, the occasion is going to be special to me ... getting to play Rafa on my home court, so regardless of all the other outside stuff just that alone is special.

"I'm 30 now so any sort of big match against one of the legends of the sport is pretty cool.

"There's definitely going to be some nerves that's for sure, because of how great a player he is, but at the same time I honestly believe I have nothing to lose. I can go out there and lose 6-1, 6-1 and not many people are going to bat an eye about it.

"I'm just going to go out and enjoy it. I trained here for 10 years of my life so it's a pretty special moment to play one of the biggest names in our sport on this court.

"Hopefully lots of people can make the occasion even more special. I'm sure it's something I'll remember for the rest of my life."

On the comeback trail from a seventh serious knee injury, Kubler is taking it one match at a time as he prepares for the Australian Open. There is perhaps no sterner fitness test in world tennis than against Nadal.

He enters with no expectations on his shoulders – and that's the way he likes it.

If there was ever a time to strike down one of the winningest players in tennis history, Thursday night in front of a sold out Pat Rafter Arena would be it.

"If I won the match it would definitely be the biggest occasion," Kubler said.

"I don't think it would be much bigger than that, beating one of the best players ever."

Osaka knocked out of Brisbane event

Returning star Naomi Osaka showed glimpses of her best but was knocked out of the Brisbane International in a big-serving clash by a fellow former world No.1 mounting her own comeback.

Former US Open and Wimbledon finalist Karolina Pliskova blasted past Osaka after a slow start to win 3-6 7-6 (7-4) 6-4 on Wednesday and reach the round of 16 after playing her first competitive match since September due to a wrist injury.

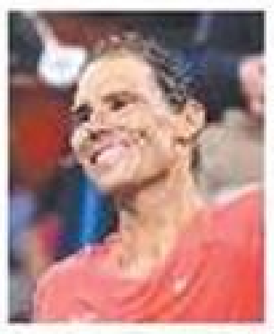
The victory keeps the Czech star's hopes of a Brisbane International three-peat alive after she won the previous two editions of the tournament in 2019 and 2020.

Osaka only gave up four unforced errors in a clinical first-set performance before Pliskova upped the ante on her serve, winning 24 of 26 points on her first serve to force a tie-break, which she won before breaking Osaka early in the final set.

Pliskova, 31, gave an unusually passionate celebration after claiming the second-set tie-break before she continued to serve out the game with all of her trademark power and aggression.

Nadal delivers a demolition job

Martin Gabor



Spain's Rafael Nadal celebrates.

Former world No.1 Rafael Nadal has put the rest of the men's tour on notice with an emphatic 7-5 6-1 win over Dominic Thiem in his first singles match in almost a year.

The Spanish maestro has been sidelined by a chronic hip injury since last year's Australian Open, but you wouldn't have known after he blasted the Austrian off the court at the Brisbane International.

The 37-year-old set the tone with a trademark forehand winner to take the opening point, with Nadal untroubled on serve as the pair traded holds before he claimed the all-important break in the 12th game to snatch the first set.

It was a procession from there, with the 22-time grand slam winner breaking twice in the second set against the man he beat in consecutive French Open finals.

"Today is honestly an emotional and important day for me after probably one of the toughest years of my tennis career, without a doubt," Nadal said after the match.

"I had the chance to come back after a year and play in front of an amazing crowd and play, I think, at a very positive level.

"On the first day, it is something that makes us feel proud. Myself, all the team and family that have been there every single day during the past year.

"The first set was equal, with both of us serving well and more or less winning on serve.

"I was able to have that break at 6-5, so that makes the difference.

"Honestly, I know Dominic has gone through some hard times with injuries too, so I'm happy to see him on court and I wish him the very best for the season."

Some of Nadal's groundstrokes made it feel like he'd gone back in time to when he was simply unbeatable, which makes you wonder how good he can be once he gets more match practice under his belt.

Nadal had only just made his competitive return in the doubles a couple of days earlier after a horrific run of injuries, and he'll next face Aussie Jason Kubler on Thursday.

In other results in Brisbane, Rinky Hijikata eliminated fellow Aussie Thanasi Kokkinakis in straight sets, while two-time Australian Open winner Victoria Azarenka also booked her spot in the round of 16.

Ace surfer is no Wally

Mind games help Isabella keep calm and make the right decisions under pressure

Jamie Pandaram

Where's Wally and weight gain aren't your typical key ingredients for athletic excellence but surfing star Isabella Nichols believes they are exactly what will take her to the next level.

The 25-year-old Queenslander, with the help of sports psychologists, is incorporating unique methods into her training as she prepares for the 2024 season. "I've been doing a lot of pressure drills because I've found that my weakness is making decisions under duress, stress and pressure," Nichols said. "Especially in the heat, as time ticks on, I just have to make a decision, not even the right decision, just a decision.

Isabella Nichols

"I've been putting myself in those situations more often where I have made the stakes a lot harder and a lot higher, adding challenges along the way, so if I do make a decision there are consequences."

So Nichols, who won the 2022 Margaret River Pro in the WSL series, has turned to the world's favourite hidden red-and-white-striped figure.

"We've done some Where's Wally things or some Scrabble games where you have to think on your feet really quickly, and then run back out and continue the heat," she said.

"We'll have a 15-minute heat and the consequence would be if you take off on a wave you will have to come and do a physically or mentally draining activity so it gives you the stimulus that, 'If I make a decision there are consequences'.

"Even if it's a good decision, you still have to come in and run around a pole.

"Those are things we've been doing to drill down that you do need to make a decision, and there are consequences and rewards for every action.

"But being decisive in any way, shape or form is better than being indecisive.

"They are 15-minute heats, so with the Where's Wally test you really have to calm your mind down and find out where he is, and it makes it a lot harder if you're thinking about getting your next wave. You have to learn how to focus on your breath and slow it down. Same with the Scrabble, the longer you spend on those tasks, the less time you get in the water, so it's regulating.

"I'm doing that through Surfing Australia. They have a couple of sports psychs there who have been helping me, to put myself in those situations more often. A lot of the time I fail, there are times I get it. Hopefully the more I do, the better I'll get at it.

"Even learning how to make a decision in general life, like what I want for dinner, what I want to do that day, all correlate to being a better performer in the water.

"It gives me the ability to make a decision quickly and confidently."

Nichols finished 15th overall in the women's series last year, having made the second round in the first three events, placing third at Bells Beach and then bombing at Margaret River to be knocked out in the first round and cut mid-year.

Katelin in select dozen

Jake Garland

A former Hockeyroo, turned CrossFit champion will now take on her next big challenge, being named a Gladiator Australia.

Mother of two, Katelin Van Zyl will be one of 12 Gladiators taking on 12 contestants when the TV show airs this month.

Van Zyl said she found herself very lucky to get the opportunity after an injury setback.

"I am actually recovering from hernia surgery which has made things a little difficult but I wasn't going to miss this opportunity," Van Zyl said.

"I got the phone call to come out and try out for the show early in 2023.

"When I got there in Sydney, there was about 200 people trying out for Gladiator's.

"Then they finally named the final 12 and I was one of them which was such a surreal moment."

Originally from Toowoomba, Van Zyl took up hockey at the young age of four, playing for 20 years before moving over to CrossFit at the age of 24.

Since then, the now 32-year-old has competed in competitions around the world.

"Representing your country was incredible, something that I was incredibly thankful for and always will be," Van Zyl said.

"I remember my first CrossFit session and we had to do something like a 5km run.

"And I thought if this is CrossFit then this is going to be awesome because I got the best time out of all the men and women.

"Then the second session the next day was pull-ups and I for the life of me cannot do pull-ups. So it was a big change but I love that sort of challenge, I have always been competitive."

The Australian Gladiator has a very busy life preparing for her next competition, owning CrossFit Urban in Southport and two young kids under age of seven.

"It has been a bit tough recovering from hernia surgery and training because I have had to make sure I don't over do it as well," Van Zyl said.

"Which is tough for me because I just want to do things, don't like just staying at home.

"And then having two boys, six and three, they definitely keep me busy as well.

"But I love what I do, I love being a mum, I love seeing people at the gym working on themselves."

Gladiator Australia premieres on Channel 10 on Monday, January 15.

Pakistan stages rally

Rizwan, Salman dig in after Aussies dominate early

Mohammad Rizwan and Agha Salman counter-attacked to help Pakistan battle back from a rocky start on the opening day of the third Test against Australia in Sydney.

After being reduced to 96 for five soon after lunch, Rizwan and Salman took on the Australian bowling with a pulsating 94-run stand before Rizwan fell just before tea for 88.

At the interval, Pakistan was 199 for six with Salman on 36 and Sajid Khan seven. The tourists battled on to be 9/261.

Rizwan, who had been dropped for the first Test, blasted two sixes and 10 fours off 103 balls before he fell to a legside trap set by Pat Cummins.

Rizwan top-edged a pull shot for Josh Hazlewood to take the catch at fine leg after posting the highest individual score by a Pakistan batsman of the series.

Cummins made the breakthrough as he has done often throughout the series, taking his third wicket of the innings.

Pakistan made a disastrous start after winning the toss, losing four wickets in the opening session and skipper Shan Masood shortly after lunch for 35.

It was a rousing morning session for the Australians, who are looking to send off 37-year-old opening batsman David Warner as a winner in his home city in his 112th and final Test match.

Openers Abdullah Shafique and debutant Saim Ayub were dismissed inside the first two overs.

The out-of-form Shafique fell to the second ball of Mitchell Starc's opening over, needlessly playing a loose drive and nicking a catch to Steve Smith at second slip for a duck.

Ayub, brought in for Imam-ul-Haq to make his Test debut, only lasted two balls before he fell to a Hazlewood outswinger in the next over, snapped up behind by Alex Carey.

Pakistan lurched to four for two and for a time looked to be consolidating with Babar Azam playing three glorious cover drives to the ropes before he was out on first-hour drinks for 26.

Cummins appealed vociferously for lbw but was turned down by the umpire, only to seek a review and get the verdict he sought, leaving the tourists tottering at 39 for three.

Saud Shakeel copped a nasty blow on the collarbone from a Cummins lifter and in the Australian skipper's next over he prodded a catch behind to Carey for five, leaving his side further in the mire at 47 for four. Masood had a big moment on 32 in the second over after lunch when he was caught by Smith at second slip but it was ruled a no-ball from bowler Mitchell Marsh.

Marsh got the last laugh two overs later when Masood, on 35, again edged the medium-pacer to Smith in almost identical fashion to leave Pakistan at 96 for five. Australia clinched the three-match series with a tense 79-run win in the second Test in Melbourne over Christmas.

Shield rookies' Windies warm up

Ed Bourke

Promising Sheffield Shield batters Jack Clayton and Teague Wyllie will have a chance to impress the Australian selectors in a three-day tour game against the West Indies next week.

Peter Handscomb, who does not have a BBL contract this season, will lead a Cricket Australia XI at Adelaide's Karen Rolton Oval from January 12 as the inexperienced West Indies side prepares for the two-Test series in Adelaide and Brisbane.

Teague Wyllie

The left-handed Clayton, one of Queensland's top Shield performers this season, and Western Australian young gun Wyllie are the two hottest batting prospects named in a 12-man squad that also includes young Warriors opener Jayden Goodwin and Tasmanian duo Tim Ward and Jake Doran.

Clayton posted a century and three 50s in the first half of the red-ball season, while Wyllie last summer became the youngest batter since Ricky Ponting to score a Shield century but has failed to reach the milestone in 16 first-class matches since.

National selection panel chair George Bailey said he wanted to mix domestic cricket's most consistent performers with some recent Shield debutants for the tour match.

Victorian left-arm orthodox bowler Doug Warren, who has played two first-class games, is the only spinner named in the side, while towering WA left-arm quick Liam Haskett and NSW seamer Jack Nisbet are also Shield debutants.

"CA XI matches provide an excellent opportunity for some of our up-and-coming players on the domestic scene to face international opposition as well as rewarding consistent performers," Bailey said.

'Cool feeling': Aussie young gun's stellar comparison

Ed Bourke

Phoebe Litchfield says it's a "huge honour" to be compared to batting great Meg Lanning after her commanding century fired Australia to a 190-run win over India in the third ODI.

Australia secured a series whitewash in Mumbai after the 20-year-old combined with captain Alyssa Healy for a 189-run opening stand to set up a score of 7-338, with India bundled out for 148 in reply.

Litchfield was stranded for more than 30 minutes in the 90s as Australia at one stage lost 4-27, but she eventually got to her second ODI century and put the innings back on track with Ash Gardner (30 off 27) to post 119 off 125 balls, including 16 fours and a six.

The left-hander's 260 runs at 86.66 had her crowned player of the series as she also became the youngest Australian to pass 50 six times in ODIs, achieving the feat 58 days ahead of a 20-year-old Lanning.

Litchfield said it was a "cool feeling" to earn comparisons to Lanning and Belinda Clark after so quickly becoming one of Australia's best players.

"I looked up to Meg, and recently had Belinda Clark work with our Thunder group, so to be mentioned with those names is a huge honour," she said.

"But I'm trying to take it each day at a time and not think too much into it and just keep scoring runs."

She said her prolonged time in the 90s had been "stressful" but held her nerve after losing a procession of teammates in Healy, Ellyse Perry, Beth Mooney and Tahlia McGrath as India fought back with the ball.

"I thought I was going to bring it up with 'Pez', that was the fairytale, but it took me a long time to get to the hundred and it was nerve-racking to say the least," Litchfield said.

"With the wickets falling around me, it was a bit stressful, but I just stayed really calm. I probably scored each run in singles, just wanting to get there and make the most of that big partnership."

Australia was then at its most clinical with the ball in this series as Megan Schutt removed both Indian openers in her first spell before Georgia Wareham (3-23) and Alana King (2-21) combined to tear through the middle order.

The match also marked a return to form for Healy, who posted her first score above 50 in the format since her devastating 170 in the 2022 World Cup final in New Zealand.

The multi-format tour next moves east to Navi Mumbai for the three T20s beginning on Saturday.

Penrith 'respect' Jarome's big shift

The Panthers have responded to Jarome Luai's decision to join Wests Tigers from 2025 on a five-year deal, with the three-time defending premiers expressing their "disappointment" but ultimately "respecting Jarome's choice" as salary cap pressures force another star out of the club.

Luai announced on Wednesday that he was heading to the Tigers next year to link up with childhood hero Benji Marshall, who has had his biggest win as a coach as the club looks to bounce back from consecutive wooden spoons.

Leaving his hometown club, where he's won three titles and played alongside his best mates, was a brutal decision for Luai, but the chance to prove himself as the head chef was an opportunity he couldn't turn down.

Penrith wanted to keep him but couldn't match the Tigers' offer, with Luai joining other big names Matt Burton, Viliame Kikau, Api Koroisau and Stephen Crichton who have all moved on.

"As publicly stated previously, the club believes that as a three-time premiership player and international representative, Jarome has earnt the right to explore the open market and although the club is disappointed by the outcome, it respects Jarome's choice," the Panthers posted.

Luai will return to training on Thursday but will remain sidelined as he recovers from shoulder surgery. It's unclear whether he'll be available for the trip to the UK for the World Club Challenge.

But he and the Panthers have stressed they are fully committed to working together to achieve an unprecedented fourth straight title. "We acknowledge that the situation is compounded by salary cap capacity due to the club's recent success," Panthers Rugby League chief executive Matt Cameron said.

Five-eighth quits Panthers to join boyhood hero

Top to bottom for Luai

Martin Gabor

Jarome Luai is hoping to win "five rings" at the Wests Tigers after signing a five-year deal worth a reported $6m.

The Panthers five-eighth has won three premierships in a row but will head to a team next year that has won the past two wooden spoons, which is one of the reasons he described it as the "toughest decision of my career and life".

Luai's announcement came after months of speculation as to where he would end up. Along with the Panthers and Bulldogs, his manager said on Wednesday several clubs had been interested in signing him.

Money was obviously a motivating factor for the 26-year-old, who has three children and got engaged to be married last week, but a chance to work with Tigers coach Benji Marshall was too good to ignore given the Kiwis star has been his idol since he dazzled the crowd with a stunning play in the 2005 decider.

"The obvious reason was that it was a great opportunity to provide for my family but also to create something for myself," Luai said. "I've had a great connection with Benji and we spoke about the future and what he sees in me.

"My first game of rugby league was that grand final.

"I was on a camping trip with my family and I got to see him do his thing out there and that inspired me.

"I've always been a big fan of Benji and the way that he holds himself. I got the opportunity to chuck the boots on with him in the Maori camp and I actually got to room with him which was pretty cool."

Signing Luai could be the turning point for a club that's been starved of success, with the Tigers last making the finals in 2011.

"We are super excited to announce the signing of Jarome for the 2025 season on a five-year deal," Marshall said.

"His experience as a genuine premiership-winning playmaker will be great for us and the future of our club. We love the way Jarome plays his footy and even better, he is a great person."

Luai now has the chance to be the chief playmaker after playing his entire career alongside champion halfback Nathan Cleary.

Panthers coach Ivan Cleary questioned whether Luai could handle that role when asked about it last year, although he showed he's more than capable after taking Samoa to the 2021 World Cup final.

"He wasn't lying," Luai said, confirming he's fully committed to helping Penrith win a fourth title. "At the end of the day, he was right because I haven't proven it on the biggest stage yet. That's what I want to prove to myself."

Luai used Wednesday's press conference to officially tell the Bulldogs they'd missed out, which he said had hurt because of his strong links to coach Cameron Ciraldo and best friend Stephen Crichton, who left Penrith to join the Bulldogs. "I've got a lot of brothers over there already and Ciraldo's like my second dad, so that was pretty tough to turn that away and walk this path alone and face this new challenge," Luai said.

Huntington tells of dark times with ACL injury curse

Erin Smith

Pain, surgeries, gruelling rehab process and extreme strain on your mental health – AFLW player Isabel Huntington says the impact of an ACL rupture doesn't get any less after the second or third time.

Huntington, 24, has torn her ACL three times in the space of six years. She is part of a growing club of elite women athletes who have had triple ACL injuries.

Joining the club this year alongside the AFLW player is Matildas fringe player Holly McNamara – who tore her ACL for the third time playing in the A-Leagues just days after being called into the national squad.

Sydney FC midfielder Taylor Ray is back in the A-Leagues this season after her third rupture.

Huntington said thoughts of giving up the game started to creep into her head during her second rehab stint and grew louder during her most recent injury. "There are certainly periods where you think you're not going to be able to get back or at the very least get back to the level that you were playing at, it's a pretty dark and lonely time throughout those periods," she said.

"Particularly the third one, not as many people have come back from three successfully so you have less and less inspiration in terms of athletes that have successfully done it.

"So there were doubts. But it's a pretty proud moment when you get to run out there again, with your fingers crossed it will be sweet from here on out."

Leading knee surgeon Dr Chris Vertullo said research had proven the female anatomy made women five to eight times more likely to suffer an ACL injury than men. "Studies take time but I think we need to invest hard in terms of research and getting to the bottom of it and finding some answers," Huntington said.

The Bulldogs turned Greater Western Sydney player tore her ACL for the first time when she was 17-years-old.

"My first one was in 2016, then I got back and in my second game back I did my other knee," Huntington said.

"It was a few years between my second and my third, which I did (January 2022)."

She needed an extended time off to recover from the third tear – taking 20 months, instead of the usual 10-12 months.

Huntington made her triumphant return to the field in September, after delaying several times for a niggle and her confidence to return.
